Auto Death Toll In Province Moves Toward New High

Sixty-eight Killed In Seven Months; Authorities Will Move to Check Mishaps

One In 160 Has Chance of Injury

Sixty-eight people died violent deaths in British Columbia automobile crashes in the first seven months of 1937 and provincial traffic officials, backed by the Attorney-General's department, planned today to move against the ever-mounting highway toll.

The death list is 50 per cent higher than last year, which set an all-time record. Up to July 31, 1936, there were 42 killed and in the full year 102. These are official figures of the motor vehicle branch of the provincial police.

As unofficial returns indicated the death toll by the end of August will go over the 80 mark, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer intimated today that fresh methods of combating the highway menace will be considered.

The statistics up to the end of July showed 2,454 accidents against 1,943 last year, an increase of more than 25 per cent. Persons injured numbered 1,262 against 1,166.

OUT OF PROPORTION

While it is recognized that the larger number of cars on the roads this year creates a greater hazard the increase in accidents has been out of all proportion to the increase in cars, traffic officials pointed out. Cars licensed are up 10 per cent, accidents up 25 per cent and deaths up 50 per cent.

The Attorney-General said he could not forecast what would be done to meet the situation. He will discuss proposals with his traffic experts in the provincial police.

A move is already under way in Vancouver, sponsored by Alderman Fred Crone, who is also M.P.P.-elect for Vancouver Centre, to make a semi-yearly inspection of all automobiles compulsory. He also proposes compulsory tests for drivers.

This would require special legislation, Mr. Wismer indicated today, and he could not say yet whether or not a move would be made.

Tourist Travel Is Booming Here

Auto Camps Filled to Capacity; Better Class of Tourists Spending Freer

Victoria this season is enjoying a greater tourist season than during 1936. Tourists this year seem to be of a better class than last year and are spending more freely. And Butchart's Gardens is certainly the greatest tourist attraction Vancouver Island possesses.

These facts are the result of a survey of local auto camps, most of which have been filled to capacity since the opening of the current season.

The tourist business is definitely better, they report, and there has been no complaint from the visitors on the increased rates which have been effected in keeping with rising prosperity.

The difference in the type of tourist coming here was very distinguishable, auto camp owners said. One proprietor said that his visitors' roster included the names of medical men and judges of various courts of the United States. All proprietors said the 1937 tourists seemed better off financially.

Despite the great increase in the trailer trade in the United States there have been few more trailers here than there were last year. Many tourists, how-

Vancouver Star Loses 3 and 1 to Bill Holt in U.S. Amateur Golf

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The defending champion, Johnny Fischer, Cincinnati, won his way into the second round of the United States amateur golf championship here today, while the medalist, Roger Kelly, Los Angeles, fell in the first round.

Fischer advanced at the expense of Robert N. Babbish, Detroit, winning 4 up and 3 to play after being two down on the first two holes. The titleholder squared the match at the ninth and moved out in front on the second nine.

Kelly was a victim of a great closing drive by T. Sufferin Tailer, New York, who came from behind to win three straight holes and take the lead for the first time in the match at the 16th.

Kenny Black, Vancouver, one of the three Canadians to qualify yesterday, passed from the running at the hands of Bill Holt, Syracuse, N.Y., 3 and 1. Black had trouble on the first nine holes, being 4 down at the turn.

Walter Blevins of Kansas City, fell before Frank Strafaci, Brooklyn, in spite of two great shots, one leaving him only six inches from the hole on the short ninth and the other yielding an eagle three. Strafaci, however, was one under four for the 15 holes the match continued.

Charles (Chick) Evans, veteran of 28 national championships, won his 50th match in this competition when he defeated Charles (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Dog Drives Off Attacker

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ten-year-old Margaret Asbury today was saved by her dog, who leaped to her assistance when she was attacked by a man.

Margaret was returning from a nearby store when attacked. While she struggled in the man's grasp her dog viciously attacked her assailant, who fled, the dog snapping at his heels.

Chinese Turn Back Japanese Landing Force At Shanghai

Prairie Influx New Problem

B.C. Government Faces Immediate Need for Programme of Rehabilitation

The influx of families from the drought-ridden regions of the prairies has created an immediate need for the British Columbia government to formulate a constructive rehabilitation programme in order to prevent these families becoming public charges, it was learned at the Parliament Buildings today.

Families coming here from the prairies are having their transportation and living costs for a year met by the Saskatchewan government, it was learned.

There has been no set policy in their land settlement, with the result that many are taking up land in non-producing areas. Provincial authorities believe that unless some proper settlement policy can be effected, these families, after their year's upkeep by the Saskatchewan government has expired, will become charges on British Columbia.

To avoid this they feel the only solution would be a properly organized programme of settlement whereby the newcomers would be dispatched to suitable regions and set up in places where they would have every opportunity to earn a reasonable living.

Continued settlement without some measure of control would have disastrous results upon British Columbia, it is pointed out, since it would mean these new communities would require additional services and facilities which the government cannot afford to install.

Such requirements would mean major capital expenditures for schools and other services.

Authorities here do not know how many of these prairie farmers have been financed to come to British Columbia, but they propose a check-up to find out.

Wed Second Time After 32 Years

CROWN POINT, Ind. (AP)—Thirty-two years after they were divorced, Rufus Young, 66, and Laura Young, 70, both of Maywood, Ill., decided it was all a mistake. So they were remarried.

Justice John Krost, who performed the ceremony, said neither Young nor his reclaimed bride had married in the interim.

Mines and Machine-gun Nests Prevent Debarkation of 42,000 Troops

Howitzer Duel Follows Fight

Shanghai (AP)—The explosions of Chinese mines and withering fire from machine gun nests riddled Japanese regular army landing parties today and prevented, at least for the time being, the debarkation of 42,000 Japanese troops for the Shanghai war.

Heavy losses of Japanese advance forces slowed up or possibly halted altogether further troop landings until a more favorable moment arrives.

An official Chinese announcement said 500 Japanese soldiers out of 1,500 who tried to land at one point, Wentsaopang, had drowned in the Whangpoo and that the remainder were driven back to their ships.

The announcement also said two Japanese warships had foundered off Taungming Island in the Yangtze.

WAR MAPS FOUND

War maps found on a captured Japanese officer disclosed a Japanese plan to land troops along the entire Chinese coast from Liuho to Nanwei and then advance on Shanghai, Chinese claimed.

Apparently furious because of the setback, Japanese demolished Chinese villages along the Yangtze with a naval barrage and scores of aerial bombs.

With the Japanese offensive against Shanghai at least temporarily paralyzed, distant Chinese howitzer batteries were directed at Japanese warships in the Whangpoo and Yangtze.

Military observers said the German-trained Chinese gun crews operated with "surprising accuracy."

Great fires raged meantime in three sections of Shanghai.

SHANGHAI TOLL 100,000

Some foreign observers estimated the toll in the two weeks of fighting in and about Shanghai as more than 100,000 killed and wounded. Officially compiled casualties in the international area totaled 5,160, including 1,760 dead.

Chinese field headquarters declared a counter attack in the Woosung sector north of Shanghai had swept the Japanese out of four strategic towns—Yikang and Paoshan on the Yangtze, and Lotien and Changhuapeng between Shanghai proper and Woosung.

NIPPON FACES NORTH THREAT

Japanese Try to Stop Chinese Flanking Move West of Peiping

Japanese Field Headquarters, Lianghsiang (AP)—The Japanese army threw all available troops into action west of Peiping today in an effort to halt a Chinese flanking movement through a 20-mile breach in the Japanese lines.

Three Japanese columns, flanked by dozens of small patrols, were attacking the Chinese troops, attempting to drive them out of their fortified positions in the western hills.

There was no confirmation here of Japanese occupation of the key city of Kalgan to the north, or even of penetration of the Great Wall, as was claimed in Peiping by the Domei-Japanese news agency and official army press releases.

Bishop of London Invites Local Cleric to Preach; Leaves Here Sept. 21

Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, has accepted an invitation from the Bishop of London to preach in St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday morning, October 31.

The invitation to speak in the famous edifice is a flattering tribute to the Dean, who is retiring shortly after a long and distinguished career in the Diocese of Columbia.

The severance of his long and active association with Christ Church Cathedral will be marked by a farewell reception to be tendered him and Mrs. Quainton in the Memorial Hall on Monday evening, September 20. On Tuesday, September 21, they will leave Victoria for England.

Although retiring from ecclesiastical office in Victoria, the Dean does not contemplate retirement into private life in England, the Bishop of London having intimated his desire that the Dean should resume his active association with the church in England, in some field which will be decided after the Dean's arrival there.

JAPAN ORDER TO BLOCKADE

To Halt All Chinese Vessels Plying Coast

TOKIO (AP)—Japan has ordered a blockade of all Chinese official and private shipping on the Chinese coast, the Domei (Japanese) news agency said today.

The blockade was proclaimed by Vice-Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa, commander-in-chief of the Japanese third fleet in Chinese waters, effective at 6 tonight (3 a.m. P.S.T.).

The blockade order included all Chinese shipping but specifically exempted shipping of other nations.

The blockaded area covers the Chinese coast from a point north of Shanghai, almost opposite Nanking, to near the southern tip of China, a distance of about 800 miles.

MORATORIUM IS IN EFFECT

Designed to Prevent Collection of Money Outside Alberta

EDMONTON (CP)—Moratorium postponing for six months payment of debts owing all corporations with the exception of certain "family corporations" was signed by Lieut.-Governor J. C. Bowen and went into effect in Alberta today.

The moratorium, provided for under an order-in-council authorized under the Postponement of Debts Act passed in June at the regular 1937 session of the provincial Legislature, covered all debts owing corporations and contractors before July 1, 1936.

It is in the public interest as well as essential to the economic well-being of all persons engaged in agricultural and other industries in the province that protection be afforded to debtors until such time as sufficient provision is made for the reduction of indebtedness, or the adjustment of debts," the order stated.

The moratorium, prohibiting institution of court actions and providing for suspension of all actions now before the courts, did not cover debts owed by companies and individuals, the latter being provided for under the Debt Adjustment Act.

Designed to prevent collection of money for transfer outside the province, the moratorium will prevent corporations such as machinery companies from collecting debts. Thus farmers will be able to keep proceeds from this season's crops and the money will circulate within the province.

Shells Again Are Rained On Madrid

With the Insurgent Forces Outside Santander, Spain (CP-Havas)—The provisional Basque capital of Santander surrendered today to General Franco's northern forces.

Insurgent commanders said that the entire government army, estimated at 15,000 men, would lay down their arms late today.

Basque authorities of the strategic seaport announced at 1:30 p.m. that the city had yielded to its besiegers.

Before the city's fall, a revolt of rightist partisans in the panic-stricken capital was reported by Fascist sources.

Demanding that leftist troops surrender, the city, mobs fought in the streets against the few remaining defenders, these reports said.

RISE AGAINST AUTHORITIES

Assault guards joined civilians in the uprising against the authorities, according to rightist claims.

A complete collapse of the defenders' morale had been foreshadowed in the flight of militiamen and even officers in small boats to French ports in the last 48 hours.

Conquest of the city gave insurgent forces virtually complete control of the northeastern half of Spain. The drive to conquer the entire Biscay coast started last September with the fall of San Sebastian and Irun.

It was not until June 19 that insurgents swept into the Basque capital of Bilbao.

Hundreds of square miles of mountainous territory and scores of mining and industrial villages were captured.

With the fall of Santander the insurgents have only a small slice of territory to the west to capture before they can completely dominate the northern coast.

MADRID—Insurgent batteries began bombarding Madrid again last night, firing several hundred shells into the centre of this besieged and war-ravaged city.

It was the first time in 18 days the old capital city had been shelled.

Empress of Canada Removes Refugees

SHANGHAI (CP-Havas)—The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada sailed from the Yangtze River early today with 1,000 passengers for Hongkong. They were almost all British women and children being removed from danger here. The sailing brought to 18,000 the number of foreigners who have left Shanghai since the conflict broke out.

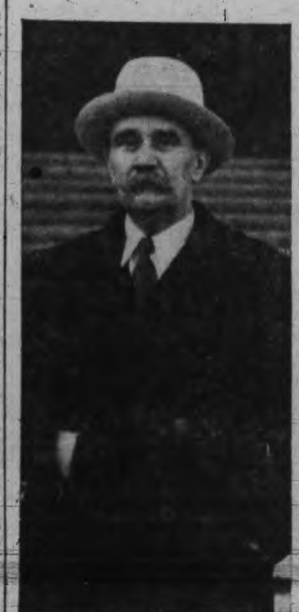

Railroad Strike Is Threatened In U.S.

Conference Breaks Up As 86 Companies Refuse Wage Increase Demand

CHICAGO (AP)—The conference between representatives of 350,000 United States railroad operating employees and their employers broke up today with refusal by 86 major railroads to accede to demands for a flat 20 per cent wage increase.

A statement from the repre-

tatives of the big five operating brotherhoods said the action "leaves no alternative but to set the day and hour for the men to withdraw from service in accordance with the authority given in a strike ballot in which 97 per cent of the workers represented by these organizations. (The brotherhoods) voted in favor of a strike unless satisfactory disposition of the request for increases in rates of pay was obtained."

PETER VEREGIN JR.

Veregin Soon Tires Of Hunger Strike

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Peter Veregin the younger, jailed spiritual leader of the Russian religious sect of Doukhobors, went on a "semi-hunger strike" early this month, Inspector John Macdonald of the British Columbia provincial police said today.

Veregin went on the "semi" strike after he complained of feeling ill about August 15, Inspector Macdonald said, but had since abandoned it. He did not say how long the strike lasted.

The jail doctor reported Veregin in perfect physical condition, Macdonald said. The Doukhobor head had been told he would not be removed from jail and he had not complained since.

The inspector said that members of the Doukhobor sect, believing their leader was being starved, have persistently tried to bring him food. Parcels of food have been found in various parts of the prison yard where they had been thrown by passersby.

Veregin is serving a three-month jail term at hard labor for vagrancy. The charge arose out of Veregin's alleged interference with a motorist near Grand Forks last April.

U.S. Tourist Service at Portland, Victoria hotels are having a busier season than last year.

Jack Ramsell, representative of the U.S. Tourist Service, said at the Dominion Hotel this morning that he was surprised to find Victoria's tourist business extremely good this year.

He paid tribute to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau as "the only really wide-awake bureau west of Winnipeg." Wherever one went on this coast, he said, signs drew attention to the island, while other western Canadian cities and districts showed no aggressive spirit whatever.

The majority of local hotels have been nearly full almost every night for the last month and week-end business has been exceptionally good. A slackening in the demand for the more expensive rooms has been noticed this season, however.

Business, while not exceeding last year's mark to any great extent, was steady, with a large number of family parties touring.

Many Seek Fortune—New York Woman Carried In Paper Bags

NEW YORK (AP)—Five years ago a lonely, wizened old widow with a genius for finance and a penchant for carrying fabulous sums in a paper bag, died in a hotel here.

Mrs. Ida E. Wood was a symbol of eccentricity to Manhattan's crowded, legend-loving millions. Today attorneys representing 1,019 men, women and children—most of whom never saw the queer little widow in life—sought in surrogate's court to establish a right to share in the $877,500 estate left when she died March 12, 1932 at the age of 93.

The task of sifting the rival claims moved slowly and tediously. Seventy-four were eliminated yesterday, but claimants remained from almost every state in the Union, from Canada, Newfoundland, Ireland, England and Scotland.

After the death of her husband in 1900 the middle-aged widow forsook social life to carry on her husband's business interests. With the acumen of a Hetty Green, Wall Street's best-remembered woman financier, she added steadily to her fortune by astute stock speculation.

In 1931 it was found she had not stirred for two years from her hotel room where she lived surrounded by 40 trunks crammed with family relics, jewels, valuable books, silk and old lace worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A court declared her incompetent in 1931. A nephew, Otis F. Wood, appointed to care for her, disclosed the frail widow—she weighed only 70 pounds—for years had carried hidden in her dress paper bags containing $900,000 in $1,000 bills.

Friends said she told them of making a trip through Africa with $700,000 in a brown paper bag tied night and day to her wrist.

CHINESE TURN BACK

Japanese troop ships brought a total of 55,000 reinforcements to the Yangtze mouth.

Of these, 4,000 landed at Pao-shan, 6,000 at Liuhou, 2,000 at Woosung and 1,000 at Yangtze-poo.

The remaining 42,000 still were aboard ship, waiting until the Japanese command decided it is safe to land.

It was approximately the same number of troops Japan sent to Shanghai in 1932. But British observers said points where Japanese troops have landed this time are too small to serve as bases for a big push.

GALLIOLI MISTAKE

Japan, it also appeared, has repeated the mistake made by the allies at Gallipoli in 1915. By deploying warships openly before a landing from the transports was attempted, the Japanese gave the Chinese ample warning.

While scores of Japanese moved back and forth before expected landing points, Chinese made full preparations for resistance.

With amazing cunning and speed they placed extensive concealed mines. When Japanese troops landed and reached the danger spots the mines were touched off. Some landing parties were decimated.

The Chinese resistance took the Japanese completely by surprise. Japanese suffered heavy losses attempting to land troops at Changwehpang, a mile upstream from the Woosung forts. This correspondent saw one Japanese destroyer, whose decks were littered with dead and wounded. The wounded were being taken to the Japanese hospital ship, Kawasoo, for return to Japan.

MINES EXPLODED

Seven hundred Japanese reinforcements landed without a shot being fired at Changwehpang. They delayed and advanced. When they reached what they apparently thought was the Chinese second line, a series of land mines exploded.

Flames, rocks, earth and scrap iron shot skyward. Scores of the Japanese landing party were killed. The scattering survivors took refuge in Shanghai-Nanking railway shops.

Japanese planes again attacked Nanking, capital of Chiang Kai-shek, China's strong man, but the Chinese air force said the attackers were beaten off with pursuit ships before they reached the city proper.

The scream of warning sirens whipped the capital to a frenzy.

U.S. Attitude

Nationalist Paper Publishes Report "U.S. May Interfere"

TOKIO (AP)—In the Japanese press, the attitude of the United States was second only to news of the actual fighting in north China and Shanghai. Papers daily publish thousands of words detailing the slightest moves of Washington officials that could have any bearing on the situation.

Editorials from the leading U.S. papers are cabled in full, printed and analyzed for a reflection of possible changes in the United States attitude to the war.

The newspaper Kokumin declared "in view of the well-known circumstances of the trouble the U.S. authorities are urged to remain cautious and fair."

The paper Yomiuri expressed satisfaction at the position taken by Secretary of State Hull, and said:

"The British Government has taken every opportunity to try and intervene, with the co-operation of the United States. The American government has been unmoved by such solicitations, and is maintaining a fair and just attitude. The Japanese are heartily grateful."

The only ominous note was struck by the nationalistic Nichi-Nichi, which published a report cabled from New York: "The United States may interfere."

Here to attend the annual convention of the Ontario command, Canadian Legion, the senior chaplain of the first division said yesterday that in the event of war in the Pacific Ocean "the Monroe Doctrine and the American navy would be our first line of defence."

"It has always amazed me that England should try and limit the size of the American navy," Canon Scott added. Rushes From Yangtze River Mouth Through Shells to Safety

SHANGHAI (AP)—The United States destroyer Parrott was caught in an artillery fusillade yesterday and driven from its post off Gough Island, where it was standing guard over the great Texas company oil plant, near the mouth of the Whangpoo River.

The shells, believed to come from a Chinese shore battery which mistook the Parrott for a Japanese warship, were exploding dangerously near the destroyer. The bombardment imperilled not only the Parrott's 120 United States sailors, but the American staff on duty at the Texaco oil tanks which, it appeared, might be blown up.

As soon as the first shells began falling, Commander R. E. Mellinger, the Parrott's skipper, shouted the command to "push off," and the destroyer ploughed through the bursting shells eight miles upriver to the comparative safety of the Socony-Vacuum docks, where the destroyer Edsall was standing by.

Textile Firm Warns Jobs to End Unless Men Give In

MONTREAL (CP)—Unless they go back to their machines in four Montreal plants of the strike-fettered Dominion Textile Company, more than 4,000 textile workers here have the company's warning they may be without jobs after next week.

Dominion Textile's 10,000 employees in its nine plants in Quebec walked out August 2 seeking higher pay, shorter hours and union recognition. All but a few, who last week heeded the company's back-to-work call from three Montreal mills, still are on strike.

The company's managing director, G. Blair Gordon, warned last night, "if the present situation continues, there is a strong possibility we will launch a drive next week to bring our working forces to normal and resume production."

Alfred Charpentier, president of the National Catholic Syndicates, parent-body of the Catholic Textile Workers' Union which called the strike, urged the strikers last night to stay out.

"The church," he said, "is with us in this fight, and we will carry on until we are successful."

along the Peiping-Hankow Railroad had been halted a few miles below this headquarters; their mechanized army was mired by weeks of unceasing rain; their flanks were harried by considerable number of Chinese troops operating in small patrols.

The surprise Chinese sweep around the Japanese right flank obviously was worrying Japanese strategists. It was a real menace to the 20-mile gap in their line's stretch from Mentoukhow, due west of Peiping, to Nankow Pass to the north where a Japanese army of almost 60,000 men has been held up for three weeks.

Aberhart Loses
Another M.P.P.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Hans E. Wight, Social Credit member of the Alberta Legislature for the Lethbridge constituency, intimated here today he would shortly place his resignation from the House in the hands of Premier William Aberhart.

Mr. Wight is leaving Lethbridge to take up residence in Calgary. He is a consulting engineer by profession. The Lethbridge member was elected to the Legislature at the general election on August 22, 1935.

made at the coming session of the Legislature. It is probable, in any case, that the subject will get to the floor of the House through private members.

PATROLS STRENGTHENED
Provincial police highway patrols have been strengthened in the last six months, but July figures showed another sharp increase. The accident total was up from 402 in July of last year to 511, deaths from 7 to 16, and injured from 281 to 312.

Of the 511 accidents during the month, 303, or nearly 60 per cent, took the form of collisions between cars. There were 13 cases of collisions involving motorcycles, 48 involving pedestrians, 14 with street cars, three railroad crossing accidents, 44 cases of cars and cycles colliding, and 35 collisions of cars with fixed objects. Only 48 of the accidents were listed as non-collision.

At the present rate of accidents, it was calculated that one person out of every 160 riding in cars in the province this year will be injured. This is assuming that an average of four persons ride in each of the 100,000 cars on the roads. One in every 3,000 will be killed.

New Power Will Double Operations

SPOKANE (AP)—The Pend Oreille mines and metals company reported today power probably would be turned on this week at its new Metaline Falls plant, where power has been awaiting to increase mine production and double its mill operations on lead and zinc ores.

The increased power will affect operations at the Pend Oreille and Reeves Macdonald mines, the latter in Canada, and at the American zinc company's Grandview and Metaline mining and leasing companies properties.

Court Issues Findings Following Dispute On British Warship

LONDON (CP Cable)—Existence of trouble aboard the battleship Warspite on June 30 was revealed tonight for the first time with publication of the findings of a naval court of inquiry. The court recommended removal of 9 or 10 ratings from the Warspite to another warship, the discharge of three ratings from the navy and that three officers of the Warspite be relieved of their appointments.

No details of the trouble were made public except that it was due to a misunderstanding concerning week-end leave while the warship was at Portsmouth. It was understood the situation arising from a breach of discipline was not handled in an entirely satisfactory manner.

The Admiralty ordered that the findings of the court, which consisted of three senior naval officers, be carried out. The relieved officers will be appointed elsewhere.

The Warspite is a veteran of the Battle of Jutland and has been refitting at Portsmouth. She is scheduled to sail for the Mediterranean September 2.

Fires Rage In Saskatchewan

Flames Burn Buildings and Timber Tracts Near Prince Albert

MOOSE JAW (CP)—Seven buildings in the village of Parkberg, Sask., 35 miles west of Moose Jaw on the main line of the C.P.R., were destroyed by fire early today. The estimated loss is $40,000.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Forest fires took heavy property toll in northern Saskatchewan yesterday.

A fire at Heath Park, 30 miles northeast of here, today caused damaged estimated at $10,000. Several buildings, thousands of bushels of grain, 25 telegraph poles and 900 ties on the Canadian Pacific Railway roadbed were destroyed. In addition many tons of feed and hay were devoured by the flames.

Many other fires were reported in the timber areas north-west of here. Flames threatened homes and valuable timber tracts in the Torch River settlement. Reinforcements for forestry crews were speeded into the threatened districts by airplanes.

ROAD INQUIRY IN ALBERTA

C. A. Davidson Says Dominion Contract With Province Ambiguous

EDMONTON (CP)—Government supervision of construction work on the Edmonton-Jasper highway in 1936 was inadequate, C. A. Davidson, former commissioner of highways, charged yesterday at the royal commission inquiry into Alberta road costs.

"I would say it started in the field, emanating out on the job itself," Mr. Davidson said when asked regarding responsibility for inadequate supervision, by L. Y. Cairns, K.C., counsel for Hon. W. A. Fallow, Minister of Public Works, and also that department.

Mr. Davidson, whose evidence was completed before adjournment until tomorrow, testified that the Alberta government failed to collect $162,275 of $403,515 offered by the Dominion Government in 1936 for relief work projects because the province could not submit "unqualified statements" to show it adhered to clauses of the agreement.

The witness said the relief agreement with Ottawa was "one absolutely unique to me" and the clause that Alberta did not fulfill, requiring that 50 per cent of all workers hired on road projects be taken from relief rolls, "undoubtedly was an ambiguous one."

CHILDREN TO MAKE HALTERS

Young Entrants at Local Fall Fair to Show Dexterity With Rope

Dexterity in rope halter making will win its reward for young stock fanciers at this year's fall fair, from September 11 to 18, according to a special contest listed for juniors.

The competitions will be open to any boy or girl resident in British Columbia. One event will be restricted to children 14 and under, while the senior class will be open to those between 14 and 20.

Each competitor will be supplied with a rope. He or she will be given a starting signal and the one who turns out the best halter within 20 minutes will be awarded first prize. Those finishing second, third, fourth and fifth will also gain prizes.

The halter-making contest will follow a special cattle showman's competition for young fanciers under 18.

The young showmen will be judged on a basis of 100 points, 70 for showing, 20 for condition of exhibit and 10 for the appearance of the exhibitor.

Prizes for the first six finishers will be awarded in three distinct classes. One will cover dairy cattle for members of dairy clubs, a second, dairy cattle for non-club members, and the third beef cattle for non-club members.

The two events will be included in the general boys' and girls' competitions for which the federal government has made a special grant.

The committee in charge of the division includes Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Dr. W. R. Gurn, R. G. Sutton, T. G. Stewart and John C. Berry.

STILL WISHES COURT CHANGE

Some Reorganization Is Objective, Says President Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt served notice today some reorganization of the United States Supreme Court remains an objective of his administration.

He made his first public statement on the court situation since Congress shelved his demand to enlarge the high tribunal by one member for each present justice over 70 who did not retire.

"We have wanted to bring to an end," he said, "a trying period during which it has seemed a veritable conspiracy existed on the part of many of the most gifted members of the legal profession to take advantage of the technicalities of the law and the conservatism of the courts to render measures of social and economic reform sterile or abortive."

He added that "because representative government, in order to succeed, must act through the processes of law, it is necessary for it to attain a high degree of co-operation among its three coordinate branches."

Deny Report to Oust General

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Writing in The War Cry, official organ of the Salvation Army, John MacMillan, chief of staff, tonight denied published reports that ranking officers of the army threatened to depose their leader, General Evangeline C. Booth, if she declined to retire next year.

Sees End of China Privilege

Former Italian Advisor Predicts New Union to Exclusion of Foreigners

TURIN, Italy (AP)—Alberto de Stefani, former Italian Minister of Finance and until lately a financial advisor to the Chinese government, predicted yesterday the present Sino-Japanese conflict would end European and United States "special privileges" in China and bring a united Chinese nation.

This nation, he said, might conceivably join with Japan to carry out the principle of "Asia for the Asiatics."

Professor de Stefani telegraphed his prediction to the newspaper La Stampa of Turin from the steamship Victoria, on which he is en route from China to Italy.

He predicted the Oriental conflict would assume great proportions and China would be able to resist Japan with prolonged success.

"Her military machine," he said, "has been greatly improved."

"The inevitable formation of China as a great civil and military state and its possible future line-up with Japan will constitute a new factor of incalculable importance for the realization of the principle 'Asia for the Asiatics.'"

"Japan will be the banner bearer in this policy..."

SAYS CROZIER BOOK IS TRUE

Author Fighting for Peace Now, Says His Daughter

WINNIPEG (CP)—Rallying to the defence of her father, Brigadier-General F. P. Crozier, Mrs. C. H. Anderson of Punichy, Sask., said in a letter to a Winnipeg newspaper: "He is fighting hard for peace now as he fought for Britain in 1914."

Author of several books and now a prominent pacifist, General Crozier aroused controversy in England and Canada with his latest work, "The Men I Killed."

In the book he charges that many men believed at home to have been "killed in action" during the Great War actually died at the hand of a fellow officer or comrade.

"Being General Crozier's daughter, I know for a fact that the charges made by him in his latest book 'The Men I Killed' are truthful," Mrs. Anderson wrote.

"These things were discussed many times in our home when I was still a young girl at school by my father and his friends, men who served with him in the Great War. I know also that he was up in the front line during action."

"Whether he is right or wrong is merely, I imagine, a matter of opinion, but he is not a liar nor is he making these statements for any mercenary reasons. He is fighting as hard for peace now as he fought for Britain in 1914."

British Government Attacked As Fascist

LONDON (CP-Havas)—A resolution calling for a determined Labor fight to oust the National government because of its "demonstrated sympathy toward the Fascist powers" will be offered at the annual Trades Union Congress opening in Norwich September 6.

Indications were the proposal would be transmitted by the congress to the Labor Party conference in October at Bournemouth.

John B. Carlin Dies In Chicago

Word has reached this city of the death of John B. Carlin at his home in Chicago, Ill. On the morning of August 12 he was seized with an acute heart attack and died instantly.

He was the eldest son of the late Michael Burns Carlin, formerly of 1137 Rockland Avenue, and was born at Golden, B.C., 36 years ago. He came to Victoria with his parents when one year old. After finishing his schooling at Victoria schools he took a mining engineer's course in the United States. His first position was in the oilfields of California.

Later his duties on the engineering staff of his company took him first to Buenos Aires, Argentina, then to Chile, Brazil and other parts of South America, including British and French Guiana. He worked continuously in these countries until three years ago, when he was assigned permanently to the company's headquarters in Chicago.

He was well and favorably known in Victoria to the younger people of two decades ago. He was of a retiring disposition, with a pleasing personality and was liked by all who knew him.

Besides his widow he leaves to mourn his loss his mother, Mrs. M. B. Carlin; one brother, Michael, of Chase, B.C., and one sister in San Francisco.

BEATTIE MINES PRODUCTION

TORONTO (CP)—Beattie Gold Mines Limited reports gross metal production of $1,203,319 in the first six months of this year and an operating profit of $41,761, compared with $1,179,488 and $396,576 in the same months of 1936. The net results are before provision for taxation and depreciation.

TAVERN MEN FIGHT RULING

Washington Operators Charge Discrimination On Sunday Law

SEATTLE — King County Prosecutor B. Gray Warner said yesterday he would refuse to enforce the 1909 Sunday Closing Law as demanded by tavern operators who asserted they were discriminated against in regulations of the State Liquor Control Board.

The prosecutor said he would not issue complaints against 18 firms and persons on evidence the tavern operators, through counsel, presented to him yesterday.

Attorney Ralph Hammer, representing the tavern proprietors, said he would swear to justice court complaints charging the 18 with violating the closing law. Theatres, a chain drug store and the Longacres Racetrack were listed among those against whom Hammer said the tavern men had obtained evidence.

The tavern operators contended if they were forced to close on Sunday all other businesses coming under the "blue law" should be required to do likewise.

QUITS POLITICS

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Dr. A. D. Roberts, Liberal member in the Ontario Legislature for Sault Ste. Marie, has retired temporarily from Ontario politics.

During the session Premier Mitchell Hepburn read Dr. Roberts out of the Liberal Party and the Sault Ste. Marie member crossed the floor.

NAZIS PRAISE JAPAN SUCCESS

German Press Sees New Political Situation Due to Tokio's Strength

BERLIN (CP-Havas)—The Nazi press expressed pleasure yesterday at reported Japanese successes in north China, declaring Tokio's military strength confronted the world with a new political situation.

Newspapers displayed under headlines Japanese dispatches reporting "sanquinary Chinese losses." Praise was devoted to the "splendid calibre" of Japan's motorized army.

Propaganda Minister Goebbels' Der Angriff charged the Soviet Union was "intervening in China, as it has done in Spain," but furnishing Chinese with men and equipment.

NEW DEVICE LANDS PLANES

Mechanism Perfected by U.S. Army Air Corps Is Revolutionary

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States army air corps has perfected a revolutionary device which automatically lands airplanes under adverse conditions and without human control.

The apparatus, officials announced last night, was tested in a series of "history making" experimental flights at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, and showed "amazing accuracy."

Details of the electro-mechanic apparatus were not announced, but it was said:

"The perfection of this device makes it possible to land a plane in dense fog, in absolute darkness or under other adverse conditions."

THREE MAY DIE

GRANT'S PASS, Ore. (AP)—Mrs. Florence Morgan of Medford was fatally injured and her two companions may die as a result of an accident seven miles east of here late yesterday when their car turned turtle and halted upside down beside the Pacific Highway.

Jack Woolfolk, 27, Medford, and Mrs. Pearl Harriett Johnson, 24, Medford, received skull fractures in addition to other injuries.

Theft Leads In Juvenile Crime

VANCOUVER—Five hundred and thirty-seven girls and boys were taken before Vancouver Juvenile Court during 1936. It is shown today in the annual report of The Court and Detention Home, published here.

Theft was the greatest individual item of juvenile delinquency. There were 44 charges of automobile theft and 87 charges of theft of miscellaneous articles. House and shop-breaking accounted for 80 charges.

Nearly 350 of the young law-breakers were Canadians. Total number of detention days was 4,950.

SEATTLE (AP)—Missing since yesterday afternoon when his pet dog returned home alone, three-year-old Dean Schute was found by sheriff's bloodhounds at 7 a.m. today in the woods near his Renton home. He had suffered only mild exposure. He wore only thin coveralls.

LONDON (AP)—The German embassy announced today that Rear Admiral Erwin Wassner, its naval attaché and one of the best-known U-boat commanders of the Great War, had died at The Hague, Netherlands. He was en route to London to resume his duties when taken ill.

SIT-DOWN IS HERE TO STAY

Homer Martin's Statement Draws Cry of "Communism" From Wm. Green

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Homer Martin's statement that the sit-down strike would remain "an effective weapon" for the United Automobile Workers drew a cry of "Communism" tonight from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, a Committee for Industrial Organization union, reported to his union's convention today that "the stay-in sit-down strike" will remain an effective weapon against employers who refuse to recognize moral and legal rights of workers to collective bargaining.

"In my opinion," he added, "it will remain labor's most effective weapon against the autocracy of industry."

The Nature of Fear

CONSIDERABLE INDIGNATION HAS been aroused in the Old Country and especially in Wales by the publication of a book from the too-bullish pen of Brigadier-General Frank Percy Crozier and a labor member of Parliament representing a Welsh constituency has demanded a public inquiry into the assertions of the general as well as an apology from that gentleman.

The charges complained about are that the Welsh were only held together at Bournemouth Wood because "they understood it was better to die at the hands of the enemy than be shot out of hand like rats by their own officers." It is a most unwarrantable accusation to level at the men of a very gallant country. Indeed, it is fortunate that this general is not the first to write of the Welsh since the war. The great poet and writer Ford Maddox Ford has a whole book of poetic and splendid tributes to their gallantry, their gaiety, their endurance and to his own pride in having been an officer with them. "Footsloggers" is a classic.

More startling still and more repugnant to the British nature is the general's admission that he personally shot a young British officer who ran in the face of the enemy, presumably the incident from which the book takes its name, "The Men I Killed."

It may have been thought necessary by this general to have taken that action, but it was not necessary to write a book about it; it was not even necessary to mention it—except in dispatches of an official character. When—as occasionally occurred—men were shot for desertion or other grave offences the matter was not published. They were simply recorded as "killed."

No man has a right to set himself up as a judge of another man's courage; no man can understand what forces are at work in another man to set up that unreasoning, blind and terrific fear that robs him of his reason, his self respect and all the ordinary bases of life. If the general is the sort of man who is so without sensibilities that he is also without fear he should be very humble about it, and if his conception of duty led him to shoot his own men let him privately lament their unfortunate and tortured minds and keep quiet about it like a gentleman.

About Beer

ALTHOUGH, ACCORDING TO SONG and story, a Merciful Providence has ordained that the great and true function of beer is that it shall bring man and man together in harmony and kindness, that it shall bring amelioration of both a spiritual and bodily order for the ills of mankind, that it shall help him to lift up his voice in song and his heart in love, it still has a knack of dividing the very best governments and setting man against man in the world of commerce.

Man, in his increasing helplessness, has steadily abrogated many of his traditional rights and customs to manufacturers and has thrown upon them many things he used to do himself. Beer is a notable example, and its production has been thrown into the hands of great central organizations called breweries, which have come to be among the most valuable properties in any community.

Thus when the men of Nanaimo propose a brewery among their growing body of industries other breweries look askance at the proposal and governments, anxious to maintain the balance of industries for the province in general, are careful of acting, fearing a glut of beer and loss of coin to investors.

The real question, however, has not been mooted. The gift of good beer came to the world through continuous and eternal endeavor; some places can make good beer, others can not. It may well be that the water of Nanaimo will make a rich and noble fluid that will carry the name of Nanaimo through the world as it pours down the delighted throats of Kings and Commoners so that the place shall become as much a household word as Burton-on-Trent, Munich, Dublin and Milwaukee. But no one knows whether Nanaimo can make it or not.

Living and Dying

WITHIN THE PAST 35 YEARS THE general death rate on this continent has declined from 17.6 to 10.9 to each 100,000 persons, according to Public Health Service statistics.

The reduction in death rates, however, has come almost entirely for persons in early life. The decreases in diphtheria and smallpox are startling and reflect the courage and labor of white-robed laboratory workers and physicians whose discoveries resulted in practical life saving.

On the other hand, diseases of middle and old age are increasing. Deaths from cancer almost doubled. Youth is spared just to find a more hazardous middle and old age. It is well that medical research has turned to a greater concentration in this field.

Trades Opportunities Again

ONE OF THE MOST ENCOURAGING statements regarding industrial recovery for some time was that made by a local contractor at a Chamber of Commerce meeting when he said there was a shortage in Victoria of skilled labor in the building trades. He spoke during the discussion on the home-improvement loans, which have enabled many people to make much-needed house renovations or extensions. But the increase in building generally has undoubtedly had most to do with taking up the slack in the building trades.

Although the lack of as many contracts in the $500,000 class as when Victoria was going through its early growing stages has not made for record building figures, the home-building development of the last few years has been a definite sign of stable progress. It is more conducive to permanent prosperity than a boom with the troubles invariably recorded in the wake of a boom.

The shortage of labor may partly be due to the fact that during depression years the building trades offered no particular opportunities to young men of 16 to 18 years, when normally they would be taking up trades to follow through life. Many of those young men are now past the generally-accepted apprentice age and, perhaps, past the years of greatest aptitude for learning trades. Although the lost opportunity for these young men is a matter for regret it is a pleasing thing to note that the days of a young man entering upon trades to take their place in the world of artisans are returning.

Notable Research Results

THE AUGUST NUMBER OF THE Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy contains an article that drives home in a forceful manner the value of chemical and other forms of research to Canada. In a modest, self-effacing report the authors, R. Lepsoe and W. S. Kirkpatrick, describe a method whereby pure sulphur and sulphuric acid, which is so widely used in our chemical and pulp and paper industries, are being recovered from the waste gases at the great smelter at Trail, which were formerly regarded as a nuisance and a liability. Already more than 45 tons of sulphur, 99.5 per cent pure, and 450 tons of sulphuric acid are being produced every day.

This is cheering news to those thoughtful people who have long regarded with horror the wasteful exploitation of our natural resources. Because nature has endowed us with broad domains and rich resources of mine and forest we are prone to talk glibly of them as being inexhaustible, and go gaily about our methods of waste and depletion, forgetting that once removed from the ground cannot be replaced. Millions of cubic feet of gas have been wasted in the open air in Turner Valley to obtain a few barrels of naphtha. High-grade ores are mined while millions of tons of low-grade, which might be mined in conjunction with the high-grade, and so conserve our mineral resources, are left untouched and must be lost as alone they will never repay mining.

Results of the work done at Trail should do much to stimulate industry and government to further research, whereby the best development of our resources may be attained.

Notes

A philosopher is one who sees today's alarming headlines as other people will a month from now.

Michigan proposed selling eggs by the pound and then abandoned the idea. Hens still laid on a unit basis.

When the Japanese in China say they do not want war, it sounds hypocritical to us. But our English-speaking ancestors who took Canada did not want trouble with the Indians or the French, either.

The Ontario election campaign is well under way, with each party already accusing the other of red-herringism. That herring business has been going on for a long time, for as The Toronto Star recalls, in "Gentlemen's Recreations" (1886) there is a reference to "the trailing or dragging of a dead cat or fox (and in case of necessity a red herring) three or four miles, and then laying the dogs on the scent." The politicians seem to have overlooked the dead cat as an alternative to the fish.

THERE'S SOME GOOD NEWS, TOO

From The Ottawa Journal

All this news from the western drought area, bad and sad as it is, shouldn't make us lose our sense of perspective. Because there is some good news, too.

There is that news that came last week from Alberta. It said that Alberta farmers will receive this year from $170,000,000 to $180,000,000 for their wheat, livestock and other products. They have had a fair crop out there. And will get higher prices. At the same time, as becomes more evident each day, harvests in eastern Canada are abundant.

The other day in New York the authoritative Standard Statistics issued a survey of economic conditions. It said that virtually all indexes showed wide gains in Canada over the levels of a year ago. It added that all prospects in Canada were favorable for continued improvement.

So, while we may regret some things, let us keep a sense of proportion. Realism, after all, is a bit different from pessimism.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

MANNERS

IN ENGLAND, WHERE they are wiser about some things than we are, they have lately started a new experiment in the prevention of insanity on the highways. Instead of terrifying, arresting and fining motorists, squads of police in Sussex and Essex will move about teaching drivers good manners. The thing may work in England, where people are used to discipline and regulation, but, badly as it is needed, I doubt that it would work here.

On this Continent it has not occurred to the motorist that good manners are possible on the highway. He unconsciously forgets manners of all sorts the moment he steps on the running board. What the cause of this is, the most learned psychologists have been unable to discover, but the automobile has a strange and horrible effect on the human being, reducing him in a trice from a man to an animal, sweeping aside with the first revolution of the motor the accumulated civilization of 5,000 years.

It is my theory, which psychology will finally confirm, that the automobile is the civilized man's favorite release from an intolerable civilization, and an unnatural way of life. A man who has been a slave at home, who has been badgered by his wife and bullied by his children, can get into an automobile and immediately he is a superior man, a creature as strong as 100 horses. A down-trodden clerk in an office, brow-beaten all day, can step on the accelerator at 5 o'clock and instantly he is in command of more power than his boss.

The automobile is thus the compensation of the small man for the smallness of his life. It makes him feel big. With his hand on the wheel and 100 horses beneath his foot he is like a god on wings. He may not look like a god (in many of us the resemblance is not marked) but he feels like one and he drives like one, paying no attention to the swarms of mere mortals about him. It is only when he wakes up in a hospital or a police cell that he realizes suddenly that he is only a man after all. By that time, however, it is often too late because several people have been run over.

This, however is not a surprising thing, or an isolated phenomenon. The machine always has this strange effect on the human animal. In the mass he has never mastered it, and it overwhelms his present civilization. In the individual, not one man in 100 is competent to control a machine of any sort. Either a man lets his automobile run wild, in a state of non-alcoholic intoxication, or he is terrified of it. The streets are full of middle-aged men and women who sit in misery behind their steering wheels, wondering where the engine will take them, dragged along, hurled through space, powerless.

The only people who really understand machinery are usually young fellows in their teens who have been brought up with it, who can take it apart and put it together again, who understand and love it, who can see the beauty in it as others see the beauty in trees. They can live with machinery and control it. We can only live under it as slaves.

FOUL PLOT

A FOUL PLOT against the male population has just been uncovered by that useful sheet, The New Republic. It finds that double shirt cuffs are coming back again. You will remember that they were in vogue years ago and it was thought impossible that a shirt would remain on a man's back unless the cuff formed a double thickness of cloth about his wrist, held back by a pair of expensive cuff links. After years of research, an unknown genius discovered that a simple button and button-hole at the end of the sleeve were more comfortable, cooler and cheaper. It seemed for some time that man had been emancipated, but the forces of reaction and oppression have been at work. The interests that make cuff links, ruined by the existing style, are working with the shirt-makers to bring back the double cuff. It has reappeared. Cuff links are sneaking up on us and nothing can save us but a united front. The male, says The New Republic, must refuse to double cuff and, if the salesman persists, must shout, pound on the showcase, lie on the floor, kick, scream and hold his breath. Because if he doesn't a worse fate awaits him—if the reactionaries succeed in this first campaign they will not stop there. They will shortly have us back in the detached, starched collar.

Most men are not interested in a political principle but on this sacred cause, surely, they will unite.

ONE SUPPORTER

MY BARBER IS an Englishman. He is a good barber and a good Englishman. But he made a confession to me today which his countrymen will indignantly repudiate. Said he, speaking in a cautious whisper: "You know what you wrote in England about not seeing any pretty women, and a woman wrote to the paper here and said what in hell do you know about pretty women anyway? Well, I just want you to know that I think the same way as you do. The girls over here are twice as pretty. They don't take care of their looks over there. They don't know how, I guess. You backed down on what you said, but you shouldn't have. You were right. Well, I just wanted you to know that everybody doesn't think you're crazy. I just wanted you to know you've got one friend left."

I thought it was kind of him to mention it.

Victoria Native Son
Man of Ideas
On Federalism

TORONTO.

The Toronto Star, under the heading, "Introducing Prof. Angus," says editorially:

EASTERNERS are not well acquainted with Professor H. F. Angus of the University of British Columbia, a member of the newly-appointed royal commission on Dominion-provincial relations. Unlike many men in the west, Professor Angus was born there, in Victoria. He was educated at McGill and Oxford. John W. Daffoe of Winnipeg, another member of the commission, was born in Combermere, Renfrew county. Professor R. A. McKay of Dalhousie University was born in our Victoria county. Hon. N. W. Rowell, chairman, was born in Middlesex, and Mr. Justice Rinfret is a product of Montreal.

The most remote of all these men, in geographical origin, is, therefore, Professor Angus. What he thought, in May of this year, about the problem of constitutional relations in Canada we know, however, from the August issue of the Canadian Journal of Economics and Political Science, printing the text of papers presented to the annual meeting of the Canadian Political Science Association in Hamilton. Not that Professor Angus, as far as the royal commission is concerned, any more than the other members, is to be judged on his views expressed in the past. The commission is a fact-finding body and it may be taken for granted that its recommendations will be impartially and constructively founded on the facts which will be presented to its members as a group, passing, as they will, from province to province in their task.

It is interesting, however, to see Professor Angus' approach to the problems. In the address referred to, he says it should not astonish us if we find that the rules of constitutional law which appeared reasonably suitable in 1867 should turn out to be quite unsatisfactory now. At the time of Confederation, Professor Angus believes, there was no reprehensible negligence in failing to discern the impending change in moral outlook which underlies contemporary social legislation or even the great economic shifts which have caused or accompanied the change.

This British Columbia authority points out that Canada, by its present constitution, is a federal, not a unitary state. "We know," he says, "that federalism, congenial to those countries which have grafted it on to a background of English constitutional law, has several well-recognized weaknesses. It entrusts judges with the task of deciding how the apportionment of legislative power is to be determined in events which were not foreseen when the distribution was made. The litigious method of clarifying constitutional law often leaves it uncertain whether a particular legislative body has the power to enact certain types of legislation."

The stresses of Canadian political life, Professor Angus thinks, have exceeded any reasonable anticipation. He thinks it is justifiable to ask whether the conflicts of economic interest and social outlook today are likely to make it impossible for political unity to be maintained. The existing situation, he says, "protects all manner of important interests which, without its vagueness, would feel as defenceless as an army moved from trenches into the open."

With this background, Professor Angus joins his colleagues in the stiff task of discovering and appraising the facts in detail and of deciding what, in their minds, is the ideal solution. The practical legislative result, if any, will be not their responsibility but that of the provincial, federal and British parliaments.

POLITICAL PRISON CAMP

From New York Post

They're whispering this tale in Berlin today: A prisoner who was released from a concentration camp was asked to describe his experiences there. "It was marvelous," he gushed. "Just like at a country club. In the morning I had breakfast in bed, then walked through the park, had a swell lunch, listened to a concert, took an hour's nap, then played golf all afternoon, had a seven-course dinner, danced all evening, and then retired." "That's funny," his listener insisted, "when I met your cellmate at the concentration camp, he gave me an entirely different picture." "I know," was the reply, "that's why he's back there!"

LONGEST BRIDGE IN EUROPE

K. G. Skerrett in Scientific American

Denmark, with her Diesel-motored "Lightning Trains" and her splendid new bridges, is effectually reducing the handicap laid upon her by nature. The kingdom embraces more than 100 islands, great and small, that have made the problem of rapid transit a difficult one; and Denmark is a thoroughly progressive country.

To cross her numerous domestic waterways as well as the water gaps that separate her from neighboring nations, Denmark has developed fleets of typically modern train ferries. The largest and finest of these link opposing shores at strategic points and especially along her rail trunk lines that are tributary to ports served by steamships and rail connections leading to the capitals of Europe. But the best of train ferries are slow in comparison to express trains, and every unbridged water gap entails delays and possible inconvenience, particularly when thick weather hampers the navigator. Accordingly, within the last few years, Denmark has embarked upon a programme of bridge building, and the aim is to abandon the use of ferries wherever it is economically practicable to substitute steel spans.

The latest and most noteworthy of these structures is the Storstrom Bridge, which was opened to traffic last December. The Storstrom Bridge is the longest bridge built to date in Europe, and it spans a body of water that lies along the important and much-traveled route between Copenhagen and Berlin. The bridge saves trains spending 24 hours being ferried from Gedser, across the Baltic to Warnemunde. The value of time in Denmark is emphasized by the fact that the bridge cost of $6,120,000 is said to be justified by this one saving of time.

Besides the railroad and motor traffic lanes, there is a nine-foot wide walk to accommodate pedestrians and cyclists. Denmark is overrun with domestic and visiting cyclists. The bridge is 10,532 feet long.

LOW INFANTILE MORTALITY

From Australian News Letter

The distinction of having the lowest infant death rate in the world was claimed by the city of Adelaide in its last annual report. Of every 100 babies born in the city in the past year only 23 died. In the previous nine years, the lowest rate for one year was 55 deaths for every 1,000 births.

The report attributed the low infant mortality rate to the excellent supervision of all knowledge propounded to mothers and expectant mothers by the Mother and Babies' Health Association, the control of the milk supply, the greater quantities of good food given to the wives of unemployed and the splendid work of maternity homes.

Letters to the Editor

ENGLISH FILMS

To the Editor:—The writer regrets his letter was so little understood by "Observant." To make the matter clearer: The British Government has lately taken the English film industry rather severely to task for the quality of productions; the local morning journal carried an editorial along the same lines; English publications devoted to the industry have deplored the mediocre films produced there.

Further, it should be well known that frequently a theatre's bill may contain a good feature and be rounded out with another of poorer quality. It is not always possible for busy people to arrange theatre arrival to see only the better feature and pass up the poorer, and why should patrons be penalized after full admission fee. The writer's complaint was clear that he would perforce forego a good feature rather than endure, in whole or part, a poor quality production carried to fill out the bill.

The indiscriminate use of words like Fascist is amusing, to say the least.

SHOWBOAT MEMORIES

To the Editor:—As a visitor from Oakland, California, will you please grant me a small space to express my appreciation of the many attractions your fair city offers. I would especially like to mention your Showboat. It is a great institution and one of which you should be justly proud. It's ideal location with the warm "Welcome" sign has won the hearts of all entering your gates.

The delightful entertainments, good music combined with comfortable seats under a sheltered embankment, where thousands can inhale the glorious sea air is unsurpassed by anything I have yet seen.

I attended a benefit concert on Saturday evening, arranged by the manager, which I shall long remember. Both staff and artists gave their services free to procure a wheel chair for a crippled newsboy. All seats were filled and thousands lined the sidewalks. Great honor is due to these splendid people. Together with four other Californians I am leaving to boost your city, your Showboat and your fine people.

FROM AN ANTI-HITLERITE
To the Editor:—Of all the millions of decent people in this world, our Prime Minister, McKenzie-King, had to visit no less a notorious person than Hitler himself on his recent visit to Europe. To many of us Canadians it seems an anomaly. "Most outrageous" said a friend of mine to me.

But what seems even more outrageous is the "new regulations" specifically designed to obstruct any help of any sort being afforded democratic Spain, where daily, men, women and children are being slaughtered by International Fascists and their allies, the barbarian Moorish hordes. What a shameful thing, to say the least.

The "new regulations" made under the "Foreign Enlistment Act" is so calculated as to even obstruct the free flow of medical aid to the suffering Spanish people. The new regulations prescribe that any humanitarian work such as medical aid, must be "under the control or supervision of the Canadian Red Cross or other recognized Canadian humanitarian society." This may be all right if there were such "recognized" Canadian Humanitarian Societies functioning on behalf of Spain. To my knowledge, and disappointment, the so-called recognized societies, even the Canadian Red Cross, are doing nothing about all this suffering in Spain, though, it is my firm opinion that the majority of Canadians connected with the above-mentioned societies would be only too anxious to help if given half a chance.

I am informed that the distinguished work performed by the Canadian Medical Unit in Spain was the result of a spontaneous desire of Canadians to help. If this noble service is not recognized by our government, well, I can only say "thank God" it is recognized by our people, by Canadians the length and breadth of Canada. "UNE FEMME"

B.C. ELECTRIC
OR YOUR DEALER

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

BABY'S DIET MAY VARY GREATLY, BUT ELEMENTS IN DIET MAY NOT

One dislikes to make oneself a drum major on the subject of feeding and give the impression, from one end of the country to the other, that all babies must be fed alike. But what persons unversed in diet may fail to recognize is that the principles of good diet are the same everywhere and that differences are in appearance only. The child may seem to be getting a diet that is substantially different from some other child, while in truth the only difference is in the form of the food element being furnished.

There are all kinds of milk—mother's, cow's and goat's—fresh milk, buttermilk, dried milk, as well as cottage cheese. In any of these forms the baby can get those elements which are furnished by milk.

WAYS AND WAYS

The number of fruits and vegetables is numberless and yet whatever the fruit or vegetable, all of them furnish a small or large portion of those essential minerals and vitamins for which fruits and vegetables are necessary in the diet. When some specific fruit enjoys an especially great favor in the diet, it is because of the large portion of some essential vitamin which it supplies.

The baby's need for the offices of vitamin D in helping it to develop a good bone and tooth structure is well known. Yet the ways in which Vitamin D can be insinuated into the diet are numerous and baby may get his vitamin D in food, in medications and in sunlight.

WHO DICTATES?

In the matter of feeding hours there are likewise individual differences which are not of the least importance. The actual hours used are of less importance, in fact, than the regularity of those hours. It is vitally important to baby's good health that he be fed neither too often, nor irregularly; other than this, whether his feedings come at 6-10-2-6, at 7-11-3 and 7, at any other regular sequence of four hour intervals is of no moment, except to the mother, whose household may be inconvenienced by them.

It isn't differences of the baby's diet that need attention, it is who is dictating these differences. If the person who advises a baby's diet is possessed of sound knowledge of dietetics, the diet the baby gets may seem to be different—but will, in fact, follow the well charted path which provides the right food elements for growth and development.

Girl Scouts Influence For Peace

Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt Speaks At International Rally

BRIARCLIFF MANOR, N.Y. (CP)—In the first international rally of Girl Scouts and Guides ever held in the United States, 101 girls from 26 foreign nations and every state in the Union assembled here for two weeks of comradeship and sport.

The gathering at Camp Andree, picturesquely situated in the Westchester County hills, marks the silver jubilee of the Girl Scout movement in the United States.

Frances Cox of Montreal was Canada's representative. Besides being a model patrol leader in her home troop, the smart young Canadian is a fluent conversationalist in both English and French—an accomplishment which enabled her to put at their ease many European girls whose English is skimpy. Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand also are represented.

Girl Scouts and Guides, representing the cream of their home units, quickly made friends with sister scouts from distant quarters of the globe and exchanged tips on scoutcraft in a babel of languages. Contrasting with the forest green of the United States Scouts, the varied uniforms of the visitors made a colorful scene. They ranged from British khaki through the pearl-grey dress of the Polish delegate to the navy-blue kimono-like uniform of the Japanese girls.

In a formal opening ceremony, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who is honorary president of the United States Girl Scouts, addressed the camp.

After conveying the greetings of President Roosevelt she urged the girls to use their influence for peace and to promote it by living in harmony with their fellow citizens at home. "Peace abroad depends on peace at home and kindly feelings for one another," she emphasized. "That must come before kindly feelings between nations."

"When we want peace, we will have it. We haven't got very far in our international relations because we don't bring them down to the level of our personal relations—that is, the way you feel about the neighbor next door. So far, we have only lip service to our thoughts on peace. Instead, it is a way you must live to prevent difficulties from rising."

After two weeks at Camp Andree, the Scouts and Guides have another week at Pine Tree Camp, near Plymouth, Mass., as the guests of Mrs. James J. Storrow of Boston.

History Says Women Can Rule

NEW YORK (CP)—Although Miss Dorothy Thompson, New York columnist and article writer, scoffs at the idea she might be nominated for president of the United States in 1940, as suggested in a Washington dispatch to London, she wants it understood she does not regard women as incapable of ruling the United States or any other country.

Miss Thompson said she means no slight on the proved ability of women to rule by terming the Washington suggestion "ridiculous," and hastens to history for confirmation.

"Under the matriarchies there never was any soil erosion and there was always the most meticulous conservation of the forests," the writer said. "In fact, when women ruled, the tree was the symbol of all the divine elements of nature. There are some authorities who say the land ruin of China began with the passing of the matriarchies."

Coming down to more recent times, Miss Thompson said there were too many distinguished queens to leave the anti-feminist much comfort. She cited Catherine of Russia, Marie Therese of Austria and those two great English queens, Elizabeth and Victoria.

FALL FATAL FOR TWO LONDON (CP)—Mrs. Mary Warburton, 60, fell 80 feet from a fourth-floor window on to Donald Black, 19-year-old civil servant. Both died from their injuries.

Woman Judge Gives Views On Crime

Says Women Should Help Curb It In Home and School

NEW YORK — Crime, said Judge Anna Kross today, "is a woman's business."

"I believe one reason why this country never has made much progress in curbing crime is that women haven't been given enough opportunity to help."

It is a woman's responsibility, she explained, because it involved the school, the home and the church—"it is the result of a poor educational programme in our communities, and shows that something is wrong all the way along the line."

Judge Kross is one of New York's two women magistrates. Like Judge Janette Brill, she hears from 50 to 200 cases a day.

PETTERSON-SMITH

Mr. H. L. Hopkins officiated at the marriage of Miss Constance Smith, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ball, and Mr. John S. Peterson, eldest son of Mrs. J. Peterson, Dupplin Road, and the late Mr. Peterson, which took place at his residence, Tennyson Road, Saturday evening at 8.30 o'clock.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. George Smith, and wore a cream silk suit and a Lehigh hat, and wore a corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Mrs. George W. Lapp Jr. attended her sister, and wore a green linen suit with white accessories, and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas, and Mr. Ralph Peterson supported his brother. Mr. and Mrs. Ball entertained about 50 guests later in their home, 3225 Harriet Road, in a setting of mixed summer flowers, where a beautifully iced wedding cake centred the table from which a buffet supper was served. Mrs. Peterson Sr. assisted in entertaining the guests.

After a wedding trip to Vancouver, for which the bride left in a blue knitted suit, a grey hat and navy blue accessories, Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will take up their residence on Dupplin Road, Saanich.

Mr. Percy Cliff of Qu'Appelle Street, accompanied by his brother, Mr. Cyril Cliff of High Street, Strawberry Vale, left by motor on Saturday afternoon for a week's vacation at Campbell River.

Saving Mothers In Old Britain

LONDON (CP)—Britain is getting healthier. The ministry of health announced that special expenditures of $700,000 in 1936 resulted in fewer mothers dying in childbirth than in any year since 1922, and for the third year in succession only one baby in every 17 born, died before it was a year old. The new Midwives' Act may further cut the maternal mortality rate, now 3.81 per 1,000 live births.

Are Eighty-five Years Wedded

BOMBAY (AP)—Sir Temulji and Lady Nariman, both 90 years old, celebrated their 85th wedding anniversary today. They were married in 1852 at the age of five, when child marriages were common in India. Sir Temulji is still in active practice as a doctor.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THURSDAY, AUGUST 26, 1937
Astrologers read this as an unfavorable day in planetary government. The aspect may incline toward latitude and lack of energy.

Warning is given that the way encourages irritability and may bring about petty quarrels. This is a day to keep as cool as possible, mentally and physically.

Women are subject to adverse conditions which may make them self-centred and unreasonable. They should combat the idea that in business they are victims of injustice.

Protests of women organized to demand equality will be discussed by lawmakers. But more pressing issues will divert attention.

A banker is to be much in the headlines of newspapers at this time. The signs appear to preface success for those accustomed to wield power.

In the evening of this day good luck should come to a labor leader. Development of unions and strengthening of labor organizations is prognosticated.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of pleasant days. Business and home interests should prosper. For the young, courtship is indicated.

Children born on this day probably will be steady-going and dependable. Subjects of this sign usually are keen-witted and popular.

Joseph Taylor Robinson, late United States senator, was born on this day, 1872. Prince Albert, consort of Queen Victoria, also celebrated it as a birthday, 1919. (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Felicitated On Golden Wedding

Reception Honors Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woodford

Congratulations were tendered Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woodford, 3128 Glasgow Avenue, yesterday on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. To celebrate the happy occasion, a reception was held last evening in their honor at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wakeman, Dallas Road. Twenty-four members of the immediate family and a few intimate friends gathered to felicitate the bride and groom of fifty years ago, who were presented with a purse of gold from the family, Mr. A. J. Wakeman proposing the toast to Mr. and Mrs. Woodford and making the presentation. Supper was served from a table arranged with a pale pink damask tablecloth and centred by the wedding cake, with vases of pink carnations at either side. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. T. Wakeman of Port Angeles, a granddaughter of the guests of honor, and Mrs. F. Tate. Music was enjoyed during the evening, violin solos being played by Mr. Stanley Wakeman and Mr. Billy Veach; accordion numbers by Mrs. E. Holt and piano selections by Mrs. Holt and Mrs. Veach.

CAN YOU KISS AND MAKE UP?

FEW husbands can understand why a wife should turn from a pleasant companion into a shrew for one whole week in every month. You can say "I'm sorry" and kiss and make up easier before marriage than after. If you're wise and if you want to hold your husband, you won't be a three-quarter wife. For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature to get up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three crises of life. 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age." Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

Star of Paris Mystery

VICE-REGAL PARTY RESTS

Governor-General, Tired, Cuts Activities to Short Walk

STUE LODGE, B.C. (CP-via British Columbia Police Wireless)—The Governor-General, refreshed after two days' rest, prepared to meet Hon. T. D. Pattullo, British Columbia Premier, arriving at Bella Coola aboard the destroyer Fraser of the Royal Canadian Navy. Mr. Pattullo was expected to be brought here some time during the day by automobile over 40 miles of bumpy mountain road up Bella Coola valley.

His Excellency, wearied by the rough flight from interior Intaka Lake where he spent a week, cut his activity to a couple of short walks in preparation for tomorrow's programme highlight of which will be the performance on Bella Coola Indian reserve of the sacred thunderbird dance, being staged in entirety before white company for the first time in 144 years. The last party to see it performed correctly was that of Alexander Mackenzie, the great explorer.

RECORD SALMON

While the Governor-General rested yesterday his son, Hon. Alastair Buchanan, caught a 26-pound salmon, all-time record for the Bella Coola River, landing it with assistance after a 15-minute struggle in which the fish threatened to smash his tackle.

Mr. Buchanan was fishing with Jack Schaeffer and George Draney when he made the sensational haul. He had a cheap steel rod, trout line and reel. When Draney waded into a pool and wrestled with the fish it had taken all Mr. Buchanan's 30 yards of line and pulled the reel from its seat.

While Mr. Buchanan fished, A. S. Redfern, the Governor-General's secretary; Mrs. Redfern and T. W. S. Parsons, assistant commissioner of the British Columbia police, rode horseback up the valley towards Anahim Lake, guided by George Powers and Bob Bousler, picturesque packers. Today the party will fish and ride. Lieut. Rivers-Smith, aide-de-camp, will see pig timber cut near here.

BACKWARD CHILDREN

LONDON (CP)—Three children in every 1,000 are not mentally fit for any kind of school system, experts say, dividing backward children into those who try and those who don't.

CYCLIST SETS RECORD

YORK, England (CP)—Miss Rhoda Wright, established new records when she rode a bicycle from London to York, 195 miles, in 11 hours 23 minutes, an average of nearly 18 miles an hour.

WOMEN LIVE FOR POKER

JOHANNESBURG—The increase in the number of "poker schools" among Johannesburg women is condemned by social workers, who declare the women here live for little else than poker.

BIG LOAD OF NAMES

LONDON—The monster petition from spinsters asking the qualifying age for contributory pensions for spinsters be lowered to 55, carrying 1,000,000 signatures, reached Westminster in a big lorry.

WILL FIX "No. 10"

LONDON—For "additional accommodation and improvement of heating and lighting," $65,000 will be spent on No. 10 Downing Street. Many a prime minister's wife has worried over whether it's an office or a home, but Mrs. Neville Chamberlain has secured results.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Cameron held a musicale at their home, "Roseboro," Moss Street, yesterday evening, when the guests were entertained with a beautiful programme given entirely by Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green, who played in her own inimitable style. Among the guests was Mrs. Cameron's sister, Mrs. John W. Garner of Falls Church, Virginia, who is spending two months here. The reception rooms were massed with lovely summer flowers, and on the supper table pale pink gladioli and maidenhair fern in low bowls and pink candles in silver candelabra formed the artistic decoration.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ball left on Monday for two weeks' holiday at their summer home, Cedar Camp, Qualicum Beach.

Mrs. Gordon C. Kenning, the Uplands, and her sons, Ian and Angus, accompanied her mother, Mrs. A. Moore, when she left for Vancouver yesterday afternoon to attend the marriage of her son, Mr. Kenneth Moore, to Miss Dorothy Mielicke, which takes place today in Vancouver.

Miss Norma Jones entertained last evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Jones, 2587 Dalhousie Street, for Miss Lily Fiddler of Vancouver, who has been her guest for the past few weeks. Games and music were enjoyed, and little Irene Brooks entertained the guests with recitations. Supper was served from a table centred with a pretty bowl of pink asters, and lighted with tall pink tapers in silver candelsticks. The invited guests included Misses Nellie Fiddler, Irene Brooks, Margaret and Kay Cuthbertson, Ruth Fiddler, Florence Greenway, Elaine Harter, and Faye Smith.

Miss Alice Ruffel was hostess on Monday evening at her home on Monterey Avenue at a miscellaneous shower given in compliment to Miss Teresa Doherty, whose marriage to Mr. Clyde R. Hickman will take place on September 1. The reception-rooms were decorated with pink roses and mauve sweet peas. The pretty shower gifts were presented to the bride-to-be in a little carriage decorated with pink and mauve crepe paper. Miss Kathleen Burnes was the winner of the games played during the evening, the consolation prize going to Miss Roberta Peden. A buffet supper was served later from a table having a lovely centerpiece of mauve and pink sweet peas in a crystal bowl, lighted by pale pink candles in matching holders. The guests were Mrs. A. Hickman, Mrs. F. W. Nolte, Mrs. F. I. Doherty, Mrs. Robert Proctor and Misses Mary Smith, Dorothy Basanta, Roberta Peden, Peggy Davis, Kathleen Burnes, Eugenie Doherty and Peggy Wharton.

Miss Teresa Doherty was hostess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doherty, Olympia Avenue, last evening with a kitchen shower in compliment to Miss Agnes Street, who is to be married shortly to Mr. Fred Doherty. The many attractive and useful gifts were concealed beneath a blue and gold covering on a card table, topped with a charming corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas, which was presented with the gifts to the bride-elect. The supper table was decorated with blue and gold streamers and centred with an artistic arrangement of blue and gold flowers. The guests included Mrs. F. Westmoreland, Mrs. Mullin, Mrs. G. Burnes, Mrs. Bill Mullin Jr., Mrs. F. W. Nolte, Mrs. I. G. Trudel, Mrs. Frank Doherty, Mrs. Kaiser and the Misses Mary Smith, Berta Peden, Kathleen Burnes, Muriel Renna Trudel, Mirah Weicker, Beth Phillipson, Lenore Fletcher, Agnes Nesbitt, Bernice Colbert, Irene Collins, Pat McDonald, Gene-

Calling All Dogs!

By Albert Payson Terhune

WHEN SCOLDING ISN'T SCOLDING

J. S. of Denver writes me that he likes this series but he suggests that I forebear from the occasional "scolding" of people who give their dogs wrong treatment. He says this is not fair to the majority of owners who treat their dogs rightly and wisely.

I can't see where the unfairness comes in. I have only praise for people who are expert enough and kind enough to give their dogs a square deal. But there are too many persons who neglect their canine chums or give them wrong management. I believe nine-tenths of these folk do so through ignorance, not through cruelty or laziness. And I believe some of them can be set on the right track by such suggestions as I have made from time to time.

These suggestions of mine are not scoldings at all; but well-meant warnings and tips. People in good health do not complain because a doctor gives strong medicines and stronger advice to invalids. Why should J. S. and other humane dog-owners be annoyed because I prescribe fair treatment for the benefit of dogs belonging to less humane people? Anyhow, I am going to keep on doing it. It is a duty I owe to my readers—and a much more important duty which I owe to their dogs. I think I am right, in making that decision. Don't you? (Copyright 1937, McNaught Syndicate)

ASK SCHOOL BE REOPENED

James Bay Petitioners Request Board to Continue Kingston Street

The City School Board last night lent an attentive ear to a petition from 210 residents of James Bay asking the educational authorities not to close Kingston Street School, one of several institutions the board had decided to eliminate under the revised educational programme drawn for the coming year.

After lengthy discussion the board referred the matter to George H. Deane, municipal inspector, for a full report and explanation of the motives which led to the closing of the primary institution. While a definite decision was not reached on the matter, it appeared the school would not be opened in September.

Commenting on the petition, which outlined several grounds supporting the move to retain the school, Trustee W. C. Moresby, K.C., chairman of the board, noted it had been signed by more people than there were parents of students at the school.

It was quite true some of the children would have to walk further to South Park and might be subjected to greater traffic menace, Mr. Deane told the council. But, he added, the school had been closed on the grounds of economy. The policy of sending the younger children to South Park also gave them the advantage of larger organization and would tend to fill up diminishing classes, he said.

Trustee Kenneth Ferguson stated he understood the provincial government intended to use the school building. He asked if some compromise might be reached whereby the government would pay for the upkeep and janitorial services and allow the board to use one room.

Trustee P. E. George referred to certain obsolete fixtures in the school, the renovation of which would prove costly.

Trustee Mrs. N. E. MacLaurin suggested the petition might be only the first of several the board would receive and moved that in future all delegations seeking re-opening of schools appear before the municipal inspector. He, she said, had thoroughly canvassed the situation and knew the reasons for closing certain institutions.

Trustee John Wallace advanced the view that if one of the closed schools were to be reopened, the others should be given the same treatment.

Trustees George, Moresby and MacLaurin all stated they were averse to opening Kingston Street again, but joined in a move to refer the question to Mr. Deane for a report.

Alderman's Son Given Bursary

W. Lloyd Morgan Jr. Gains Distinction for Work in Mining

W. Lloyd Morgan Jr., 18-year-old son of Alderman and Mrs. W. Lloyd Morgan, 729 Pemberton Road, has been awarded a special four-year scholarship by the Colorado School of Mines at Golden, Col., for distinctive work in mining, according to advices received here today.

The award, made by the school upon the recommendation of the British Columbia government, will enable him to pursue more specialized studies in mining engineering.

Young Morgan has been employed by the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining Corporation at Kellogg, Idaho, where his practical work, coupled with his ability as a student gained him the distinction which led to the award.

At present he is visiting his parents in Victoria and will leave tomorrow for Colorado to resume his studies.

Plan Aid For Drought Areas

Ministerial Association Preparing to Send Food to Prairies

A concentrated effort to provide residents of drought-stricken areas in the prairies with carloads of food will be made shortly by the Victoria Ministerial Association.

In collaboration with the ministerial groups of Saskatchewan and Alberta, the ministerial associations of Victoria and Vancouver will arrange for the transport of the goods which will be required by many prairie farmers to see them through the winter months.

Dr. A. S. Imrie, president of the ministerial body here, has communicated with Rev. G. B. Switzer, past president, who is now in Vancouver and who is expected to take an active part in the work in Vancouver.

The United Church of Canada has endorsed the work and is enlisting the support of all members of the church. It has set as an objective 500 carloads of produce to be forwarded from all parts of the Dominion.

A number of other interested bodies have volunteered to assist with the work in Victoria.

SEEK MEETING ON WAGE ISSUE

Appointment of two members of the local teachers' federation to discuss with the special board committee the question of revision of teachers' salaries was sought in a resolution submitted to the city school board by Trustee Walter Staneland last night. The resolution was carried.

By means of the joint conference, Trustee Staneland stated, the salary question could be settled more quickly.

During the meeting general accounts of $1,607 and building accounts of $2,068.48 were passed. Salaries of $5,865.56 were approved.

Trustee Staneland also stated he intended to investigate the possibility of a special class to deal with lurching.

Want to Handle Distribution

At the monthly meeting of the Victoria branch of the Imperial Veterans' Association held last night in the Y.M.C.A., a resolution was passed urging that the $25,000 allocation made recently by the British Parliament to keep imperial veterans in Canada, be administered through the association.

Present plans are for the money to be administered through the imperials' branch of the Canadian Legion, the head office of which is in Calgary.

Lieut. Colonel K. J. Savory, Vancouver, head of the Vancouver branch and president of the Dominion organization, will visit Victoria and up-island branches on September 7 and 8. A special social evening will be arranged during his stay.

Announcement was made that the public was taking great interest in the branch ball which will be held in the Empress Hotel on October 15.

Art Experiment Results Shown

Work of Pupils in Peace River Test School Now On Display at Spencer's

The success of the latest experiment of the Department of Education in teaching appreciation of art in rural schools is well proved by an exhibition in one of the View Street windows of David Spencer Limited.

The collection of material and abstract drawings and costume and industrial designs made by students of junior high school and high school grades in Dawson Creek, was considered 'so good' it was displayed in the Vancouver Art Gallery before coming to Victoria.

Dawson Creek School is serving as the 'guinea pig' of the Peace River art plan, an experiment which it is hoped will eventually be extended to the whole province.

The plan, originated and now supervised by C. Dudley Galt, is conducted as follows:

'Projects in the form of letters to both teachers and pupils are mailed to various schools. Before the projects are sent, they are first tested under experimental conditions in the classrooms of a testing school. The testing is conducted for the dual purpose of discovering whether the pupils understand the language content as well as the ideas contained in the projects.'

'Outside the testing school, the teachers first digest the work outlined in the projects before passing the ideas on in the form of lessons to the pupils. The projects are then posted on a notice board and later serve as a review outline.

'When the children have completed the work on hand, they are tested on their knowledge of the theory contained in the outlines. They also make several drawings to put their theory to practice.'

'The drawings and written answers are forwarded to the supervisor, who corrects them before returning them to the teacher. The teacher in his turn comments on the corrections when he hands back the work to the children.'

'It is to be noted that manual dexterity has not been stressed, but rather art appreciation in all its forms and applications. Also, one of the great aims of the movement has been to give teachers improved pedagogical devices and basic knowledge of the subject.'

'A further aim of the movement has been that of elimination of unnecessary expense. This has been accomplished by means of quantity buying of children's drawing supplies.'

'Much modelling, carving and commercial work in general is done by the pupils as well as the type of work which is shown in the display.'

A letter from M. A. Morrow, secretary of the Happy Valley School Board, enclosing a cheque on account for $400 and stating that the balance due for students' fees, amounting to $150, would be paid immediately on receipt of the quarterly cheque from the government, was received and acknowledged by the City School Board yesterday.

BOARD HEARS LIGHT SURVEY

Comprehensive Report On All Lighting Features In City Schools Given

Described by the chairman, W. C. Moresby, K. C., as one of the most comprehensive and valuable reports submitted during his tenure of office, the final report of the lighting survey committee was presented to the City School Board by Trustee Mrs. N. E. MacLaurin last night.

Covering in detail every room in each of the city's schools, the document outlined work that had been done, defects which still exist and a complete programme of work for the future.

During the survey 500 visits were paid to 205 classrooms and individual reports were prepared on the 41 schools.

Every phase of the lighting question was canvassed and recommendations brought in.

The report in part declared work most urgently needed at Girls' Central and at Victoria West schools.

'Only one classroom in the city has entirely satisfactory interior finish—the model classroom at Sir James Douglas. Victoria West School has almost every defect except bare lamps. This school and its manual training building are so dark on winter days they are little better than dungeons. Next to Girls' Central, these should receive general improvement,' the report said in part.

An itemized listing of unsatisfactory conditions in each of the city schools was appended to the report. The committee placed $20,000 as a rough estimate of the costs, exclusive of labor, to put the schools in good condition. A vote of thanks was extended to the committee for its excellent work and a motion passed to recommend continuance of improvements to the incoming board next year.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

AUGUST 25, 1912
(From The Times Files)

The streets committee of the city council yesterday authorized the city engineer to call tenders for a parapet at Ross Bay cemetery seawall, costing from $12,000 to $13,000.

The first electrically-driven seagoing vessel ever built and the largest ship of any description ever laid down on the Pacific coast, the United States fuel ship Jupiter was launched at Mare Island navy yard today.

Fifty years ago tomorrow the first meeting of the Victoria city council was held at the police court. All the newly-elected city fathers were in attendance, Thomas Harris, who had been chosen mayor without opposition, presided.

Victoria's annual exhibition which takes place from September 24 to 28, should be the finest in the history of the British Columbia Agricultural Association if the present indications and the optimistic predictions of George Sangster, the secretary, can be accepted as a sound basis for

Archives to Get School Minutes

The historic minutes of Victoria's pioneer school board, prepared when education was in its extreme infancy in the newly-incorporated city, will be placed in the Provincial Archives.

The board decided to store the documents in that government department for safe keeping on the suggestion of Dr. Kaye Lamb, provincial librarian. But it will not yield any of its rights of access to the folio of documents which include papers showing that Girls' Central School ground is still held in the name of the crown.

Hill Clearing Is Discussed

James Morey Wardie, director of the surveys and engineering branch of the Department of Mines and Natural Resources at Ottawa, left Victoria yesterday after a brief inspectional visit in the city.

During a short stay, Mr. Wardie visited the Astrophysical Observatory, where he discussed with Dr. W. E. Harper, the director, and other officials, the clearing of Observatory Hill.

Judgment. Practically all the space available in the several large buildings given over to exhibits has been taken.

Electors of Esquimalt will meet next Friday night for the purpose of voting to decide if the municipality shall elect a reeve and six councilmen to hold office until the end of the year without going to the expense of a regular election.

which was swept by fire last year. He expressed his interest and pleasure with the research work carried out by members of the observatory staff.

An offer of Remington Rand Limited to give a trade-in allowance of $40 apiece on 14 old typewriters at Victoria High School and replace them with an equal number of new machines at a total cost of $800 plus the allowance, was referred by the City School Board last night to its finance and education committee with power to act.

A committee of two will be appointed by the City School Board to study the possibility of establishing a cafeteria at the high school on lines similar to those in Vancouver's technical school where students prepare the food and operate the department at a profit.

Trustee Mrs. N. E. MacLaurin has been appointed by the City School Board to give an address on school lighting at the annual convention of British Columbia school trustees here on September 20 and 21.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink. A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harshness and gastric troubles "up and up". They do the work of colored but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

PLAN HOME ON ISLAND

Chicago Couple In Victoria Today to Look Over Their Property at Comox

"I looked pretty well all over North America and decided Vancouver Island was about the finest place to build a home," said J. S. Simon, youthful official of the Rosenwald Foundation of Chicago, who is at the Empress Hotel today with Mrs. Simon and her two sisters.

Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Simon came to Vancouver Island and purchased property at Comox, near the Cape Lazo light-house. Today they left for up-island to pick the site for their home.

"We don't know exactly when we will build, but before long, I think," Mr. Simon said. "I want to get settled here before I'm too old."

The Rosenwald Foundation, with which Mrs. Simon is also actively connected, promotes education among the negroes. Mr. Simon recently returned from a trip to the southern states in the interests of the foundation.

Speaking of Vancouver Island he said: "When I was looking for a place to build a home I first wanted the sea. Then I wanted lots of flowers. Vancouver Island certainly has both. In fact, it has everything. There's not a place to beat it on the North American Continent."

On their present trip Mr. Simon and his party will spend about a month on the island. When they next return they hope it will be to go into their new residence at Comox.

VISITOR IS HIT BY AUTO

Minneapolis Man Has Broken Ribs; Victorian Hurt at Jordan River

A visitor here from Minneapolis, General Earle D. Luce, is in the Jubilee Hospital today being treated for two fractured ribs and bruises sustained yesterday afternoon when he was knocked down on Heywood Avenue by a car which did not stop.

According to police reports General Luce, who has been staying at the Tweedsmuir Apartments, stepped out from behind a bush into the roadway near Rupert Street to cross into the park. It is not known whether he walked in front of the car or into the side of it.

Police believe the driver of the machine may not have been aware of the accident. The car was a sedan of popular make.

General Luce was found by H. D. Naismith of Pullman, Wash., also staying at the Tweedsmuir, and was taken to the Jubilee Hospital in the C. and C. ambulance. He was attended by Dr. Thomas McPherson. His condition was reported fair at the hospital this morning.

HIT FILLING CAR

Standing beside his car filling the radiator on the Jordan River road yesterday evening, Lawrence Moore, 1767 Hampshire Road, was struck by a passing automobile and sustained a broken left leg, according to a provincial police report.

Mr. Moore was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by E. H. Clarke, Jordan River, and was attended by Dr. C. W. Duck.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The city fire department answered a call to a bush fire in Beacon Hill Park near the look-out at 7:07 yesterday evening.

Theft of a bridge lamp from a car parked at The Dugout, Esquimalt Lagoon, was reported to police last night by W. March, Vancouver.

Robert H. "Bob" Davis, widely-read New York newspaper columnist, will be the guest speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel tomorrow afternoon.

The First United Y.P.S. beach party for tonight will be held indoors owing to the unsettled weather conditions. It will be held in the Sunday School room of the church starting at 7.

I. J. Walcott, chief deputy license inspector of Portland, paid his respects to Mayor Andrew McGavin yesterday afternoon. He was taken on a sight-seeing tour of the city as the mayor's guest.

A progress report from the building and grounds committee, showing repair and renovation work done on city educational institutions during the summer vacation, was presented to the board by Trustee Percy George last night.

A meeting of the District Council of the Canadian Legion has been called for tomorrow night in the Naval Veterans' clubrooms at 8. Members have been requested to attend, as a number of important questions are on the agenda.

The flag of the Union Club flew at half mast today in tribute to the memory of Major L. A. S. Cole, late of Duncan and Victoria, who died and was buried in England recently. Major Cole left the island for England four or five months ago.

Model Planes In Contests Today

Flying their tiny craft between showers at Macdonald Park today, more than 20 young model airplane enthusiasts are taking part in the city and island championship meet. Scheduled to start at 10:30, the competitions were postponed until after noon because of rain.

The event, under the auspices of the Victoria Jubilee committee, is intended to revive interest in model-building, so that, when school starts, a number of clubs can be formed in the city, and indoor meets held.

Entered in today's contests are a wide variety of planes. Fuselage models with 190 to 210 square inches of wing space are entered in the Wakefield contest, which is run according to world-wide rules. Several smart planes are being flown in the class for scale models, and 88 "weighted stick" models are flying well in the endurance contests.

Stunt-flying models have been entered by three Vancouver experts: Bob McLellan, Bill Campbell and George Bayliss. The judges are Vivian Shoemaker, J. E. Doe, G. Wright and A. R. C. Morton.

Salvation Army Officers' Farewell

Brigadier A. E. Dalziel, who has been the divisional commander for southern British Columbia for the last five years, with headquarters at Vancouver, will lead a public meeting in the Salvation Army Citadel at 8 tomorrow night. Mrs. Dalziel, their daughter, Jean, and twin sons, Stuart and Gordon, will accompany him. This gathering will be the occasion of their farewell to Victoria, the brigadier having been appointed principal of the Toronto Training Garrison, which will reopen at the end of September.

Adjutant and Mrs. Ede, who are also under farewell orders, will support the visiting officers on the platform, and other city officers and those of Esquimalt will be present. The Victoria and Esquimalt corps are uniting for this meeting and both bands and the songster brigade will take part.

No Deficit Over Jubilee Birthday

Will Finish Anniversary Celebrations Within Estimate, Chairman States

"The city's seventy-fifth anniversary celebration committee will complete its programme within its estimate," Alderman T. W. Hawkins, chairman, stated today.

With this statement he released an interim report on expenditure up to August 6. The statement showed a total of $24,234 had been spent out of a total appropriation of $39,539. The latter amount was raised for festivities during the year by donations from the provincial government and the city and by private individuals. Public subscriptions brought in $3,594.65.

While unable to give a complete report on expenditure, owing to the fact all bills have not yet been received, Alderman Hawkins stated those outstanding and costs of events yet to be staged could be met easily.

"A complete statement, fully audited, will be submitted to the City Council when all accounts are paid," Alderman Hawkins said.

A summary of expenditure and receipts up to August 6 follows:

NOTABLES TO VISIT HERE

Titled Folk From England Expected Here Shortly; Doctors to Meet

Reservations for distinguished persons of Europe and the United States, conducted tour parties and small conventions have been received at the Empress Hotel, indicating the seasonal influx of visitors will continue well into September.

The Oregon Mutual Life Insurance Company will gather here from August 29 to September 1. A "Pacific Northwest Tour" of 40 persons will spend the weekend at the hotel.

On Sunday the Marquess of Titchfield, William Arthur Henry Cavendish-Bentinck, eldest son of the sixth Duke of Portland, with his wife and two daughters, will reach the Empress in the course of a tour of North America. They landed last week at Montreal from England.

Lord Fleming, senator of the College of Justice in Scotland, and Lady Fleming are expected in Victoria next Tuesday. R. C. Sherriff, author of "Journey's End," and his mother will arrive next Wednesday from Hollywood on their way to England.

DOCTORS TO MEET

Fifty doctors will come next week for a meeting of the North Pacific Society of Internal Medicine.

Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, chairman of England's great Midland Bank and a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is expected September 14.

Sir John Evelyn Wrench, founder and vice-president of the Overseas League, will arrive from England with Lady Wrench September 22.

Sir Edward Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, will be here in September.

Robert "Bob" Davis, travelling correspondent of The New York Sun will arrive tomorrow after a lengthy visit in Alaska and the Yukon.

On September 26 the Scottish Union and National Insurance Company's party will arrive. The Canadian Chamber of Commerce delegates to the meeting next month in Vancouver will spend a week-end in Victoria before returning east. Many persons well known in the Canadian business world will be here with this group.

George Wilbur Spinney, assistant general manager of the Bank of Montreal, is expected within the next ten days.

Rt. Hon. Lord Shaughnessy, native of Montreal and resident there, will arrive at the hotel next week.

Sir Wilfrid and Lady Jackson, who came ashore from Ss. Empress of Japan yesterday, are at the Empress Hotel today. He has just left Mauritius, where he was governor and commander-in-chief, and is on his way to England on furlough before taking up his new duties as Governor of

OBITUARYALEXANDER McNAUGHTON

Many friends attended the funeral of Alexander McNaughton, which took place yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. Mackie Niven conducted the service, during which the hymns "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Rock of Ages" were sung. Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park. The following acted as pallbearers: A. H. Townsend, H. E. Townsend, E. Townsend, A. Townsend, S. Trach and A. Restell.

HARRY NANCARROW

At the Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday the death occurred of Harry Nancarrow, aged 59 years, of 202 Woolworth Building, Douglas Street. Mr. Nancarrow was born in Truro, Cornwall, England, and had been a resident of this city for 11 years. He is mourned by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. W. T. Burley and Miss Marion Nancarrow; one son, Harry; two grandchildren, all of this city; a sister, Mrs. C. H. Williams of Sooke Road, and six sisters and two brothers in England. He was a member of "Metropolitan United Church. The remains are resting at McCall Brothers' Funeral Home, and the funeral will take place Friday afternoon from Metropolitan Church at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. A. E. Whitehouse will conduct the service, after which interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

RAPS BOND SALE PLAN

Finance Committee Chairman Hunter Attacks Change in City Policy

Alderman J. D. Hunter, chairman of the finance committee, unavoidably absent from the City Council meeting on Monday evening when Victoria took sale of sinking fund bonds off the open market and instructed C. S. Henley, to engineer the sales, voiced strenuous opposition to the change today.

"I was unavoidably absent from the City Council meeting on Monday night, but had I been there I would have most emphatically voted against the move passed by the majority of the council on the question of policy in selling bonds," Alderman Hunter said.

"My attitude is that any bond dealer who pays $150 a year license fee to the city is entitled to some of the city's business whether or not he is a taxpayer."

"I notice that the city must secure a bid of not less than 99 from any one of three bond dealers who secures the business. Why should not the same provision apply if the deal was handled on the open market? I notice, too, that Alderman Archie Willis asked why Mr. Henley had been given the job of putting through the sale. I would like to ask the same question. And it might be noted that Mr. Henley on our last deal received part of the business in competition with other bond dealers in the city."

"My own personal opinion is that Mr. C. S. Henley was appointed fiscal agent of this city solely for the purpose of conducting negotiations on the Fortin refunding scheme."

"I am just as much in favor of receiving the best possible price for any securities we sell and thus protecting the taxpayers of the city as anyone else. But I am strongly in favor of allowing those who pay licenses to the city to bid on any city business. I think, too, that we should have some information regarding the three dealers from whom bids will be asked."

CHINA BATTLE IS NOT "WAR"

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—The Sino-Japanese conflict is not officially considered to be a "war," a foreign office spokesman declared today.

Normal relations are continuing between the Chinese embassy here and the Japanese government, he said.

Considerable importance was attached to the report Hachiro Arita, for foreign minister and ambassador to China, would leave for China this week.

Although his trip was stated to have no official character, the newspaper Nichi Nichi declared his many close contacts with Chinese leaders and the authority he enjoys would indicate he has been entrusted with an important mission.

The newspaper Miyako said General Chiang Kai-shek was the only person who could transform the situation in favor of a Sino-Japanese understanding. Presumably Arita was going to make an attempt to see Chiang to ascertain if such an understanding is still possible.

CANADIANS IN TENNIS WIN

Bobby Murray and Laird Watt Advance In U.S. Title Doubles Play

BROOKLIN — Baron Gottfried von Cramm, German star, ranked second only to Don Budge of United States among the world's tennis amateurs, and his capable countryman, Henner Ernest Otto Henkel, took about that many minutes to shake off their sea legs yesterday in their debuts on this continent at the opening of the 57th national doubles tournament.

Von Cramm and Henkel started off against two Bostonians, Dick Murphy and San Fitch, on the down beat, but after they had sacrificed a set, their terrific speed gave them a 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, 6-2 victory.

Budge and Gene Mako, Davis Cup doubles pair, opened defence of their national title against two fellow Californians, Bobby Harman and George Toley of Los Angeles, and won, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

The sixth seeded domestic team of John McDiarmid of Princeton, N.J., and Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., was eliminated by Murray D. Delaford and Clarence M. Jones, unranked young British pair, 7-5, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3.

UPHILL BATTLE
Then the fifth seeded Los Angeles youngsters, Bobby Riggs and Bernie Coghlan, had a long uphill pull to overtake Louis Wetherell, Los Angeles, and Robert Kamrath, Austin, Tex., for an 0-6, 4-6, 6-4, 9-7, 8-6 victory.

George Hughes and Charlie Hare of Great Britain, seeded third, advanced on a default, but the only Canadians, Robert Murray and Laird Watt of Montreal, had to play their way into the second round.

Murray and Watt defeated Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Charles Mattman, Forest Hills, N.Y., 6-4, 5-7, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Paced by Carolyn Babcock and Mrs. John Van Ryn, defending champions in the women's section, all the favored domestic teams and all the seeded foreign pairs qualified for the second round.

Margot Lumb and Mary Hardwick, the British pair seeded fourth, were eliminated by Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., and the spectacular Jadwiga Jedzejowska, 6-4, 6-3.

Miss Babcock and Mrs. Van Ryn defeated Patricia Henry, Los Angeles, and her Canadian partner, Jean Milne of Vancouver, and the top-ranking Freda James and Kay Stammers of England ousted Virginia Ellis, Cambridge, and Mrs. P. H. Theopold, Dedham, 7-5, 6-1.

BLACK-SOMERVILLE GAIN GOLF BERTHS

In 1932, added a 74 to his opening round of 77 for 151. Black scored a 75 today for a 36-hole total of 152. Thompson just managed to gain the qualifying circle with 75-79-154.

Defending Champion Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, who qualified easily with a 76-74 yesterday, set the thirty-six-hole qualifying record of 141 in 1933.

Omaha's Johnny Goodman, former national open champion and a strong favorite to end up with the 1937 amateur crown, turned in a par 72 after taking a 77 Monday. He landed in the 149 bracket along with eight others.

Don Moe, Portland's chief hope and a member of the 1936 Walker Cup team, bounced in with a 71, giving him a qualifying total of 146.

MIDDLESEX IS NOW IN FRONT

Takes Over Lead From Yorkshire In English County Cricket Play

LONDON—Driving ahead in a desperate last-of-the-season spurt, Middlesex climbed to the top of the English county cricket championship table yesterday, replacing Yorkshire. The No. 1 berth has been alternating between the two clubs for some weeks. With only two more scheduled games before the campaign closes, the race is shaping up as the most bitterly-fought in years.

Helped along by some gallant bowling, Middlesex pulled out a tight 71-run win over Kent yesterday, while the Yorkshiremen were held to first-innings points by Surrey.

Last year's champions and up with the leaders this year, Derbyshire held its third spot with a close 45-run victory over Worcestershire. Placed 14th at the end of the 1936 season, Sussex held fourth position, although beaten on the first innings yesterday, by Somerset.

Playing on familiar soil and shooting for its first win this year, Northamptonshire fared miserably against Warwickshire, losing by 9 wickets. Glamorgan also came through with a 9-wicket decision over Leicestershire; while Gloucestershire, in

RUGGLES AT THE ATLAS

Popular Star Takes Leading Role In "Turn Off the Moon"

Ever since Charlie Ruggles created the screen's most hilarious drunk, the reporter in "Gentlemen of the Press," movie fans have wanted to see him on a drunken spree that would beat even that. In "Turn Off the Moon," which opens at the Atlas Theatre today and features in addition to Ruggles, Eleanor Whitney, Johnny Downs, Kenny Baker, Phil Harris and Ben Blue, the opportunity arises for the comedian to surpass his own ace performance.

As a department store owner who believes in the stars, Ruggles wakes up drunk in his own store.

Being shown as the second feature is "Women's Battalion of Death," starring Dorothy Lamour.

DOMINION THEATRE

Jane Withers in "Wild and Woolly," now at the Dominion Theatre, presents the peppery little comedy star in her best picture to date. The story is amusingly built around "Pioneer Day" in a western town, and winds up with Jane uncovering a plot that makes her the town's heroine.

The cast includes such well-known players as Walter Brennan, Jackie Seal, Pauline Moore, and "Alfalfa," singing star of "Our Gang" comedies.

Also being shown is Peter Lorre in "Think Fast, Mr. Moto."

PLAZA THEATRE

Vienna, Budapest and Berlin stages are the noted centres of the histrionic art in which was obtained the early training of Greta Meyer, popular screen comedienne who is featured this week at the Plaza Theatre in "Bill Cracks Down," Republic's magnificent romantic drama of the throbbing life of the steel mill towns.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Three of the principals concerned with the Twentieth Century-Fox production of Rudyard Kipling's "Wee Willie Winkie," now at the Capitol Theatre, are former winners of annual awards by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. Shirley Temple, star of the film won a special award in 1934. Victor McLaglen, also starred, won the acting award in 1935 for his work in "The Informer," and director John Ford won the director's award for the same picture.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Charles W. Spiering, known as "Red" to thousands of loggers who have worked for him in various camps throughout Oregon and Washington, recently donned makeup, slicked down his hair and became a movie actor for a day.

He enacted a role of "straw boss" in the Warner Bros. Technicolor production of "God's Country and the Woman" which was made on location near Longview, Wash., and is now at the Oak Bay Theatre.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Although they hardly ever venture out before dark in the flesh, the Yacht Club Boys broke their midnight training to appear in 20th Century's "Thanks a Million," which is now at the Columbia Theatre. This aggregation, who write and arrange their

III--WATER AND FIRE

After hearing the sound of running water, the Rev. Henry went to look for it--and in a short while he saw a little brook. It contained cool, fresh water which he was very glad to drink. Tracing the brook, he found it trickled from a spring.

He Threw His Arms Around the Goat.

When night came, he slept in a cave, but it was too damp there, so he started to build a hut. The framework was made of sticks which he cut from trees, and the outside was covered with bulrushes which he found growing in a pond. The task took three days, but it was worth the trouble, for now he had fairly good shelter.

Oysters were his main food for a time, but a trip some distance from the shore led him to a clump of wild palms. The heart of each palm was "as thick as a man's wrist, and about a foot long." He knew it would taste good if roasted in the ashes of a fire.

For a time, he could not do any roasting, for he had no matches with which to light a fire. Neither did he have flint-and-steel to use in striking sparks.

Having seen the Maoris make fire by rubbing sticks together, he tried it. Here is his own story of what happened.

"I gathered some very dry ferns and small, resinous twigs. I rubbed two pieces of wood, slowly at first. The wood began to smell of burning, and white smoke curled upward. I quickened my motion, and rubbed till my arms ached, perhaps 20 minutes. All I obtained was smoke and the smell of fire.

"I was about to give up in despair when one of the tiny shavings became a living spark. I gently shook it upon the dry fern, wrapped the little bundle around my head until it burst into flame. This fire, I never allowed to go out. In addition, I dug a hole in the middle of the ground under my roof, and always kept it filled with hot embers."

About noon one day, while lying in his hut, he heard the noise of animals running over the gravel pot far distant. Looking out, he saw six goats browsing on some bushes beside a pool of water.

Creeping toward the goats, Henry got fairly close to them before they saw him. Then they ran away--all except one which leapt to a large stone in the pool, and stood there bleating.

It was a nanny goat, and if it could be captured alive it might supply milk. The man splashed through the water, and threw his arms around the animal. For a moment, he believed it was his prisoner, but it "gave a sudden plunge," and he lost his hold. Reaching the bank, it climbed to dry land, and bounded up the rocks.

Young Married Couples Are Lax

WE ARE becoming a nation of buck-passers. The rugged individualism of which we once boasted so loudly, when men and women accepted the responsibility for their acts and felt that it was up to them themselves to make something out of their own lives, has practically become a thing of the past. We don't even try to stand on our own feet any more. Everybody leans on somebody else until we finally flop down on the government. The national motto has become: "Let George Do It."

In especial has buck-passing developed into the favorite family indoor sport, and if you don't believe this consider some of the manifestations of it with which we have become so familiar that we have almost ceased to notice them. Take marriage, for instance. In the effete past a man did not think that he had a right to marry until he was able to support a family, but that small detail does not bother the youth of today to any considerable extent when a couple of callow school children decide that they cannot live without each other. The mere fact that the boy is jobless and penniless does not deter them from eloping. They just pass the buck to their parents and let poor old Father and Mother work a little harder and sacrifice a few more comforts to feed them and their progeny.

Also, in the past when people married for keeps, and when divorce was considered a disgrace, husbands and wives recognized their individual responsibility to each other. They knew that how a marriage turns out isn't luck. It is how much a man and woman are willing to put into it, how much work they are willing to do, how many sacrifices they are willing to make. And if the marriage failed they knew that they had failed.

But now when a marriage goes on the rocks we never hear either the husband or wife blame himself or herself for the disaster. They don't even admit that they were guilty of contributory negligence. Each passes the buck to the other. The husband doesn't say that he was grouchy and hard to live with, or that he was tyrannical and stingy, or a philanderer. He says that his wife was a nagger, or she got fat, or that she bored him. The wife doesn't say that she was selfish, or a bad housekeeper, or that she got so absorbed in the children she forgot she had a husband. She says that he took her for granted, or didn't understand her.

In every divorce case the husband blames the wife for not making him happy, and the wife blames the husband for not making her happy, and neither one blames himself or herself. Passing the buck has justified them to their own consciences.

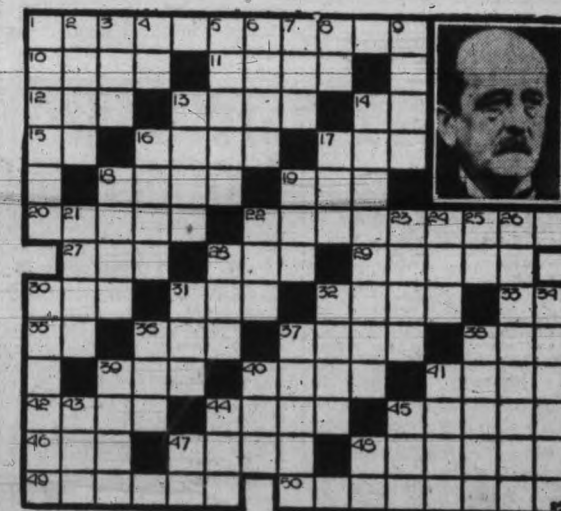

In former times people who had children thought it was their duty to rear them themselves and to teach them good morals and manners and the principles of right living. Children were disciplined in the home. High ideals were instilled into them.

But now the great majority of parents just pass the buck of rearing their children to the teachers and schools. They expect some poor, hard-worked teacher who has to deal with 40 other little ill-reared hoodlums to teach their children the things they should have learned at their mothers' knees. Nothing is more common than to hear a woman say: "Oh, I know Johnny is spoiled to death. He never obeys and he has no manners, but his teacher will correct all of that when he goes to school."

And did you ever notice in a family where there is an old mother or father to be taken care of how the children pass the buck from one to another until finally they lay the burden on the one whom they elect to be the family goat? John can't have Mother come live with him because his wife and Mother don't get along together. Mary can't have her because she has so many children and her house is small. Tom can't contribute to Mother's support because he is buying a new automobile and his children are off at college. And so on and on until they decide it will just be fine for Sally to have dear Mother because Sally hasn't anything to do but to work to support Mother. A grand sport, passing the buck. DOROTHY DIX.

Capt. W. A. Crowell On Last
Leg of Voyage From Hal-
fax to B.C. Ports

SAN FRANCISCO—Captain W. A. Crowell and his coal-black spaniel tacked up the Pacific Coast today in their 23-foot ketch, on the last leg of a 20,000-mile voyage from Nova Scotia to British Columbia points via the Panama Canal.

The tiny boat, called the Queen Mary, slipped out of the Golden Gate here yesterday after a 10-day overhauling following a rough trip from Mexico.

Captain Crowell, about 60, sailed from Halifax, N.S., July 16, 1936. He planned to reach Victoria and Vancouver late next month or early in October, stopping off at Eureka, Calif., for mail. He said he probably would take his boat home by truck.

The voyage will be the first, Captain Crowell said, from the easternmost city of Canada to the most westerly in a small craft.

He paid $1.50 to pass through the Panama Canal, lowest fee paid by any vessel to negotiate the locks.

SHE WAS X-RAYED 12 TIMES

Tried Electric Treatment
for Rheumatism

To suffer for five years with pains in the back . . . to be X-rayed 12 times . . . to undergo electric treatment for three years . . . and then to find that Kruschen was what she really needed to get relief—that was this woman's experience.

"Five years ago, I was taken ill with pains in my back. After three weeks in bed I was sent to hospital. At first, spine trouble was suspected, but after 12 X-rays I was found to have serious lumbar rheumatism. For over three years I was given electrical treatment three times a week. Last year I tried Kruschen Salts, and it has done wonders. I have discontinued hospital treatment, and last winter, the first for five years, I was free from pain. My friends are amazed to see me so well." (Mrs.) E.P.

In a good many cases rheumatism cannot resist the action of Kruschen Salts, which dissolve the painful crystals of uric acid—often the cause of those aches and pains—and assist the kidneys to eliminate this poison through the natural channels.

Armentieres Today Ashore Off Crofton

Trawler Not Believed Badly Damaged, as Skeena Stands By

H.M.C.S. Armentieres, trawler attached to the naval station at Esquimalt, is fast ashore on a mud bank in Osborne Bay, off Crofton, today, while her crew takes coal out of her holds, with the expectation of floating her at high water this evening.

Armentieres, Lieut. Commander H. W. S. Soulsby, R.C.N., was on her way to Esquimalt from Comox when she went aground last night. She is not badly damaged and it is thought will be able to proceed to Esquimalt under her own power.

Shortly after she grounded H.M.C.S. Skeena was hurriedly made ready and arrived alongside during the night. She will assist in the salvage. It is not expected services of Sa. Salvage King will be required, although she was ready at her dock in the Inner Harbor.

Commander C. T. Beard, R.C.N., commander-in-charge at Esquimalt, accompanied by Shipwright Lieut. Commander Brown, left as soon as they heard of the mishap for Crofton.

Armentieres was built at the Montreal plant of Canadian Vickers Limited in 1918, and has been on this coast since shortly after she was launched. She is registered at 357 tons, with a length of 130 feet, a beam of 25 feet and a depth of 13 feet.

She is employed in various duties out of Esquimalt. For a few months each winter she acts as a coastguard ship and is stationed at Banfield.

Took Pictures Of Big Eclipse

Most photographers would sell you a pack of exposed film for practically your own price, but Dr. Samuel Alfred Mitchell, director of the Leader-McCormick Observatory at the University of Virginia is no ordinary photographer.

The packs of plates he brought back with him yesterday from the South Seas aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan were taken at Canton Island in the Phoenix group, near which Amelia Earhart is believed to have been lost, and they show the astronomer's delight—a total eclipse of the sun, in all its glory.

Dr. Mitchell, born at Kingston, Ont., and a distinguished graduate of Queen's University, conferred here with another famous Canadian astronomer, Dr. J. H. Plaskett, former director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Saanich Mountain, and left for the east last night with Mrs. Mitchell on the Canadian Pacific's "Mountaineer."

The total eclipses of the sun, Dr. Mitchell said, as observed by internationally known scientists at Canton Island established that the sun totally eclipsed is still strong enough to shed rays equal in light to a half moon.

R. C. FAIR TO RETIRE

Will Be Succeeded in C.N.R.
Freight Office by Alistair
Campbell

R. C. Fair, district freight agent for the Canadian National Railways at Victoria, will retire on pension September 1, according to an announcement made in Winnipeg by W. C. Manders, freight traffic manager.

He will be succeeded in the freight office on Government Street by Alistair Campbell, now district freight agent at Port Arthur.

For 37 years Mr. Fair has given loyal and faithful service to the railway company. He joined the Grand Trunk system in 1900 as a telegraph operator at Lindsay, Ontario. He came west in 1911 and has been with the freight department since that date in various cities of western Canada. In recent years he has been stationed in Victoria.

Mr. Campbell, who will take over his new duties next week, joined the Canadian Northern Railway in Saskatoon in 1914 and has been in the west since then. Other changes announced by Mr. Manders are: J. J. Raleigh, formerly district freight agent at Moose Jaw, to the same position at Port Arthur; L. C. Smith, formerly freight traffic representative at Winnipeg, to be freight agent at Moose Jaw.

Mr. Raleigh joined the Grand Trunk at Midland in 1912, and moved west the following year to occupy various position on the Pacific Coast and the prairies.

Mr. Smith joined the Grand Trunk at Listowel in 1904 and came west in 1911, where he has been connected ever since with the railway's freight department in various cities of western Canada.

came ashore to have a look at Victoria. They will sail again this evening.

A male skipper is carried, but the girls act as crew. They have been cruising among the Gulf Islands and spent some days on Discovery Island.

This is the second party of girls to make a cruise this season aboard Westward Ho. Some weeks ago they went to a regatta in Vancouver and won their event. The girls are, from various parts of the northwest States, some from as far away as Kansas. They never saw the sea before, but quickly took to it and in a few days knew the fundamentals of yachting.

Capt. Shadforth pilots destroyer—freighter from B.C. held in Shanghai—Sheafcrow waits in Royal Roads for Shanghai cargo—President Jefferson due in ten days, first ship from war zone.

British freighter Sheafcrow is riding at anchor in the Royal Roads while it is decided just where to send her. She arrived the other day from sea to load full for Shanghai under charter to the Ocean Shipping Company. The charterer has refused to take her, however, claiming the charter is frustrated because of hostilities in the Orient. The London Chamber of Commerce has ruled the Yangtze River is closed for British merchant ships, except for purposes of evacuation. Meanwhile the Sheafcrow waits off the entrance to Esquimalt Harbor.

PILOTS WARSHIP

Capt. Percy Shadforth, R.N.R. of Victoria, attached to the pilotage staff, is acting as advisory pilot to H.M.C.S. Fraser, Commander H. E. Reid, on her cruise as far as Prince Rupert, acting as escort to Ss. Cardena, which is carrying the Governor-General, Lady Tweedsmuir and their party from Bella Coola. Hon. T. D. Pattullo and Hon. Ian Mackenzie are aboard the Fraser.

DUE FOR LUMBER

King Brothers said today they expect Mss. British Prince at Ogden Point in the morning to load lumber, and Ss. Darlington Court Friday morning for the same purpose. Falsterbo reached James Island this afternoon to discharge nitrates. Kingsley left overnight for California with a parcel of lumber. Embassy will shift from Port Alberni to Cowichan Bay this afternoon.

DUE FROM SHANGHAI

The next liner due here from war-torn Shanghai is Ss. President Jefferson, which W. M. Allan, local agent for the American Mail Line expects Sunday morning, September 5. She is running several days behind time, having been delayed when she carried American refugees from Shanghai to Manila. Ss. Empress of Asia, which carried British refugees to Hongkong, will arrive September 11.

HELD AT SHANGHAI

The freighter Redgate from British Columbia ports, is tied up at Shanghai, unable to get out of the river and with half her cargo still in her holds. Stevedores had discharged about half the lumber and then refused to work under the threat of shell fire.

Ss. Benlawers, also with British Columbia cargo, went into Nagasaki and there landed her lumber that was originally destined to Shanghai.

Mss. Absjorn, with British Columbia lumber for Shanghai, went into Moji at the entrance to the Inland Sea of Japan and discharged.

EXCURSION TRIPS

Ss. Princess Victoria came here yesterday with close to 1,000 excursionists from Vancouver, including many prairie visitors.

Today she took a cruise from Vancouver to the Gulf Islands, while Ss. Princess Charlotte did the same thing from Victoria. Tomorrow the "Vic" will go to Bellingham from Vancouver and the Charlotte from Victoria to Seattle.

Alaskans Worried By Japanese Boats

They Believe Bristol Bay
Will Be "Cleaned Out"
Unless Something Done

SEATTLE—The first Alaskans off the boat from the north now-
days may ask:

"What'll we do about the Japanese fishing in Bristol Bay?"
One of the liveliest issues in years in the Territory, Alaskans generally are aroused by what they term the threat of Japanese fishermen and their floating canneries, operating outside the three-mile limit to "clean out" the world's richest salmon fishing area.

Despite the pack of 1,434,388 cases in the month-long American fishing season ending July 24, the largest in four years, the controversy still is heard. Pacific Northwest senators and congressmen took the issue to Congress, the State Department sent investigators to the area, and planes were flown out to take pictures of what fishermen said were Japanese boats.

NO RESTRICTIONS

Louis Mostad, business agent for the Alaska Fishermen's Union, returning here after a visit to the area, put the case this way:

"Japanese fish the year around with no gear restrictions, whereas American fishermen—5,000 of them—have but 21 actual fishing days in Bristol Bay during a season and all kinds of gear restrictions."

"Complicating the situation, observers point out, is that the asserted fishing is done outside the three-mile limit and no treaties or international law applying to such fishing are in effect."

Alaskans, however, claim a prior right to the fish, saying they were spawned in the streams and lakes of American Territory and that the government, directly or through the territory, spends $400,000 a year for their protection. Salmon fishing is the territory's largest industry, exceeding the value of gold production two and three times.

Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach said in Congress:

"If the Japanese are able to corks up our Alaska fisheries as they have the Siberian fisheries, the supply will soon be depleted and we will face the same situation as is faced by the shore fisheries on the coast of Kamchatka."

POSSIBLE SOLUTION

He went on to give a proposed solution.
"The suggestion has been made," he said, "that the United States and Canada should join in the declaration that the north Pacific continental shelf shall be construed the exclusive fishing area of the United States and Canada, and that the regulatory power of the two nations shall extend over the entire area. I believe it should not be thrust aside without a searching consideration."

Meantime, during the summer, denials came from Japanese fisheries officials at Tokyo that wholesale fishing was being carried on off the Bristol Bay coast. Two private fishing vessels, one described as a 6,000-ton crab-catching ship, were reported being operated, outside Alaska territorial waters, in mid-June.

In mid-July, as the controversy raged, Bristol Bay fishermen said the Japanese boats had left the area, and the salmon run was coming into the bay in greater numbers.

The State Department sent a delegation to Bristol Bay. Leo D. Sturgeon, a member, said at Juneau that no such "vital industry" would be "sacrificed to foreign interests."

THE WEATHER

VICTORIA, 8 a.m.—A depression dipping on the north coast has heavy rain there and on the south coast, but the weather is clearing and becoming somewhat warmer in the interior and on the prairies.

HAVE PRAISE FOR JAPANESE
Canadian Teachers, Back
From Tokio Conference,
Laud Their Courtesy

VANCOUVER—Dr. E. A. Hardy, C.B.E. of Toronto and his party of 50 Canadian teachers, part of the 90 Canadian representatives at the recent conference of the World Federation of Education Associations in Tokio, returned yesterday aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, full of admiration for the enterprise, courtesy, hospitality and educational advancement of Japanese people.

"We heard little war talk," Dr. Hardy replied to a question, "but naturally we saw troops marching. The militant Japanese spirit that you hear talked about, however, was not visible anywhere we were. As to the affair in China, I guess there are two sides to every quarrel."

The former head of the English department of Toronto's Jarvis Collegiate said Canada's representation at the Tokio conference was the largest per capita and second only to that of the United States, from foreign nations. This fact,
